WHEELS START TO TURN IN HOT MIX CASE

Duffy to Defend Jaster as His Duty, But Not If Evidence Shows Irregularity.

SUMMONS FOR STANDER

Mansfield Asphalt President to Be Notified to Attend Injunction Hearing.

The wheels were set in motion today for the hearing of the taxpayer's suit to recover some $6,000,000 alleged to have been overpaid to Ohio "hot mix" paving contractors by the state highway department.

The suit, which was filed at Columbus for Agnes B. Dickson, an attorney, also named John J. Jaster, state highway director, and Joseph T. Ferguson.

Defends Jaster as Duty.

At Columbus, Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy announced he would defend Jaster in the suit, because it is the duty of the attorney general to represent other state officials as legal counsel, but that he would "make every effort to determine the truth, regardless of who is affected."

He asserted he would drop his defense of Jaster if "it develops at the trial that there have been improper or illegal methods used in letting hot mix contracts."

Meanwhile, in Mansfield, Sheriff E. P. Long had received a summon to be served on Carl H. Stander, president of the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, requiring him to appear in Franklin county common pleas court on March 31, when a hearing is scheduled on a restraining order asked by Miss Dickinson at the same time she filed her suit to recover the money she alleges was overpaid the "hot mix" contractors, of which Stander's firm is one, and named in her money action. The summons had not been served today.

Would Prevent Future Bids.

The restraining order seeks to prevent any of the members of the association from bidding on any state paving jobs during the pendency of the suit, and also seeks to prevent Jaster from letting any contracts to or doing any business with the "hot mix" companies.

Testimony uncovered by the senate graft-hunting committee, in which it was asserted that the state paid excessive prices for hot mix pavements, and that members of the association "got together" on bids and divided up the contracts among themselves led to Miss Dickison's suit.

Mother, 38, Kills 6 of 7 Children; Blames Poverty

CENTER, Tex.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Lillie Mae Curtis, 38, shot six of her seven children to death in their sleep last night, Sheriff J. B. Sample of Shelby county reported today.

The killings occurred at the Curtis home 22 miles east of here.

'I had no money and they are better off dead," Mrs. Curtis told Sheriff Sample.

Mrs. Curtis spared her seventh and eldest child, Travis, 15, and sent him for officers.

The children were killed in their beds. Mrs. Curtis shot each through the chest with a .22 caliber pistol, according to District Attorney Wardlow Lane, who took a statement from Mrs. Curtis and filed six murder charges against her.

Three years ago, Mrs. Curtis shot and killed her husband, Robert, in the same way.

Offers City Aid In Paving West Fourth

State to Put Up Half of Necessary $86,000 If City Furnishes Rest.

The state highway department today offered the city of Mansfield financial assistance in repaving West Fourth street if city council would agree to pay 50 per cent of the $86,000 estimated to complete the project.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter said he would ask council to consider the project along with a proposed $13,000 water main at a caucus tomorrow night.

He said he had been informed by state highway officials that the state would agree on repaving West Fourth street from North Main street to Penn avenue, which is a part of the state highway system, if the city would go ahead with the improvements.

West Fourth street is a part of U. S. route 30N and is on the Lincoln highway, a national route.

Hunter explained that the city could meet its share of the cost, which would be approximately $43,000, from gasoline tax funds and auto registration fee funds without crippling the city's finances this year.

Proposed For Several Years.

An annual plea for the improvement of the street has been made for the past several years. Council balked on the issue three years ago when plans had been drafted to improve and widen the roadway, Hunter said.

Present plans drafted by Boyd Wierman, resident engineer for the state highway department, and on file with city engineers, calls for the resurfacing and reconstruction of parts of the roadway, the widening portion having been abandoned.

Estimates which total $86,000, call for the removal of the old car rails on the street from North Main street to Ausdale avenue and the resurfacing of the roadway.

One section of the street, between Rowland avenue and Sycamore street, would be entirely reconstructed, Wierman pointed out, because the foundation has given away. The resurfacing on the balance of the highway would be done on top of the present street.

He explained that city council must take action on the project before the division engineer, A. I. Ault, of Ashland, can present the job to the state planning commission for approval.

Hunter said he also would ask council to consider the laying of a 12-inch water main on the street from North Main to Penn avenue,

CALLS CAUCUS

Council Meets Friday to Study Relief Financing.

City council will meet in a special caucus called by Mayor Claude M. Hunter, tomorrow night to study means of financing the relief burden for the balance of the year.

The city assumed the administration of relief yesterday, which the county turned over on orders from the state. It now faces the problem of raising the necessary money to pay the bills.

It appeared today that council's only alternative would be the consideration of a bond issue placed before the voters at a special election.

Mayor Hunter has stated that the bond issue apparently was the only means of raising the funds quickly. He said it was problematical as to what amount would be necessary to finance the relief burden for the year, but indicated that a minimum of $50,000 would be needed.

NEW RISE SEEN

Ohio River Towns Warned Again After Water Recedes.

EAST LIVERPOOL —(U.P.)—Engineers at Dam No. 8 here, on the second anniversary of the disastrous St. Patrick's day flood in the Ohio valley, warned today that a new rise is forecast in the Ohio river which became stationary after receding from 24.6 to 21.5 feet.

Beaver river at Rochester, Pa., and other tributaries including Columbiana county creeks, are spilling into the Ohio, thus increasing its stage.

PUSHES OUSTER

Lakewood Barber Optimistic Over Davey Removal Petitions.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — L. Leon Shepherd, suburban Lakewood barber who is circulating petitions demanding removal from office of Gov. Martin L. Davey, said today he expects to have by the end of March the 60,000 signatures necessary to start court action.

European Spotlight Turns Back To Spain

Top, French troops; below, map of Spain, showing insurgent moves.

Pleas of the Spanish loyalist government for aid poured in on the new French cabinet as insurgents, under Gen. Francisco Franco, aided by large forces of Italians and smaller forces of Germans, threatened Barcelona. France massed troops, guns and war planes along her Pyrenees border as fears were expressed that the Loyalist government might collapse in the face of the General Franco insurgent onslaught. Adding to the discomfort of France and Great Britain was the expressed fears of a deal between Hitler and Mussolini to let Italy win out in Spain in return for Germany's annexation of Austria.

MERCURY AT 70, EQUALS RECORD

Temperature Highest for 16th of March In Eight Years; Flood Dangers Over.

Spring-like weather, which yesterday set an eight-year temperature record for March 16 at 70 degrees in Mansfield, is due to continue tomorrow and will save eastern and southern sections of the state from serious flood damage, the weather bureau predicted today.

The high temperatures, which moved into Ohio five days ahead of spring, were accompanied by sharp thunderstorms over the state and a cloudburst near Coshocton. It was estimated that two inches of rain fell in less than an hour late yesterday in the Coshocton-New Philadelphia area, and the Tuscarawas river today threatened to drive nearly 500 persons from their homes.

A number of state highways south and east of Columbus and in the vicinity of Tiffin were under water as rivers and streams overflowed their banks, the state highway patrol reported. At Dayton, 53 families were driven from auto trailers at a tourist camp when water from the Miami river backed into a field.

The mercury throughout Ohio climbed to new levels for the year, with both Columbus and Cincinnati reporting 72 degree readings yesterday afternoon. It was the highest mark for March 16 at Columbus in 11 years.

The forecast said temperatures will drop tonight but warm and fair weather will return Friday.

Yesterday's reading of 70 degrees in Mansfield was topped by one degree on March 16, 1930 and equalled in 1935, Observer Otto Sprunger said. A drop to 44 degrees was recorded this morning and at noon the mercury had moved up to 46.

Rainfall here yesterday measured less than one-tenth of an inch.

Ondov's Faith and Science Win---He'll Walk Again

Spine Operation on Student, Paralyzed Since Nov. 5 Successful—Surgeon Removes Obstruction.

By JANE WILLIAMS

Surgical skill and science had joined forces with Michael Ondov's faith today—and Michael is going to walk again.

Ondov, young divinity school student of Wittenberg, who has been confined to Mansfield General hospital since Nov. 5, with a back injury that has paralyzed him from the waist down as the result of an auto accident near Hayesville, submitted to a spinal operation yesterday afternoon.

The delicate operation was successfully performed by Dr. H. E. Le Fever, head of the staff at White Cross hospital, Columbus, who decided to take the case last week after he had made an examination of Ondov's spine.

Learns of Success Today.

It wasn't until this morning that the 24-year-old Lakewood youth was able to comprehend his good fortune.

"I'm so happy, I think I'll turn sissy and cry," was his first comment when told this morning that the operation on his spine yesterday afternoon had been successful, and that he would be able to return to a normal life, in all probability, within a few months.

RAID FROM AIR

80 Jap Planes Bomb Chinese Airfield at Nanchang.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Eighty Japanese naval planes in a sudden thrust into the South China province of Kiangsi today bombed Chinese airfields at Nanchang.

Sweeping over the fields in relays, Japanese destroyed the old airdrome of Nanchang and six Chinese planes, they said. A newer airdrome there also was bombed.

Chinese guerillas are harassing Japanese through a wide area of Shantung province, Americans reported from Tsingtao.

Four Japanese merchants were killed at Fangtze.

TESTIFIES TODAY

Former Grafton Murder Suspect Called In Hensley Trial.

ELYRIA —(INS)— Once accused of the crime himself, Alexander Maneff, of West Homstead, Pa., was to be returned here from the Lima State hospital today to testify for the defense in the murder trial of Edward Hensley, charged with attacking and killing Louise Hornbeck, 19, in nearby Grafton Oct. 18.

Defense Attorney D. F. Rendinell, of Youngstown, did not reveal the nature of the testimony Maneff was to offer.

Bucyrus Woman Who Saw Civil War Battles Dies At Age 103

BUCYRUS—Death late Wednesday claimed Mrs. Susan Ensminger, Crawford county's oldest resident, who often recalled the Civil war battles she witnessed in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Ensminger observed her 103rd birthday anniversary last Monday. She had been active until three years ago, but since then had been confined to her bed.

Death came at 5:40 p. m. at her home on East Mansfield street where she lived with her daughter, Miss Alberta Ensminger, and a friend, Miss Emma Solze, both of whom had given her constant care during her last three years of life.

A native of Cumberland county, Pennsylvania, where she was born in 1835, Mrs. Ensminger remembered several Civil war skirmishes in the east. She and her husband, Henry Ensminger, moved to North Robinson, Crawford county, at the close of the war, and he operated a grocery store and served as postmaster of the village for several years.

About 55 years ago they moved to Bucyrus where he was in the dry goods business. Mr. Ensminger retired in 1882 to a farm south of Bucyrus. They returned to Bucyrus in 1891. After her husband's death a year later, Mrs.

HALT WORLD LAWLESSNESS, PLEA OF HULL

Sees Treaty-Breaking, Spread of Violence as Threat to Present Civilization.

ANSWERS U. S. CRITICS

Secretary Predicts Medieval Chaos For Nations Taking Seclusionist Viewpoint.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Speaking to a world alarmed by threats of war, Secretary of State Cordell Hull today declared that the fate of international civilization may hinge upon success in bringing international lawlessness to a halt.

Hull presented a comprehensive statement of United States' policy—a re-statement in careful phrases of his pronouncements and those of President Roosevelt since midsummer of 1937. He spoke before the National Press club and his remarks were broadcast throughout the nation and by special hook-ups were carried abroad.

Expresses Concern.

Expressing frankly his concern over world affairs he characterized developments of recent years "catastrophic," noted that events of past weeks had been "startling" and declared this pattern of developments:

"Offer a tragic demonstration of how quickly the contagious scourge of treaty-breaking and armed violence spreads from one region to another."

To critics of American policy—especially those voices raised in congress against the naval expansion proposal and against any program of parallel action with nations whose objectives coincide with America's—Hull declared:

"The triumph of this seclusionist viewpoint would inescapably carry the whole world back to conditions of medieval chaos, conditions toward which some parts of both the eastern and western world are moving

"Such is the fate to which extreme isolationists—isolationists at any price—all those who contend that we should neither protest against abuses nor co-operate with others toward keeping principles alive, those who say that under no circumstances should we insist upon any rights beyond our own territorial waters—such is the fate

Bachelor Willing to Help Youth Losing Sight.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—A 45-year-old bachelor said today that his love for children prompted him to offer his right eye to little Roger Laverty, of Lansdale, Pa., who is losing his sight because of a measles attack.

Edward Detrick, an unemployed janitor, made the offer to Gov. George H. Earle He said that when he read that the boy must be given a new cornea to save his eyesight, "It did something to me."

Detrick said he wanted no compensation and was willing to hitch-hike to Pennsylvania for the operation.

"I can get along with one eye," he said.

FASCISTS LAUNCH DEADLY ATTACK ON NEW CAPITAL

2,000 Wounded As Insurgents Seek To Speed Fall of City; 500 Killed In Rain Of Explosives On Cafes Full With Crowds During Lunch Hour.

(By United Press)

BARCELONA—The nationalist air force in raid after raid today subjected Barcelona to the most deadly bombing of the entire Spanish war in an effort to hasten collapse of the loyalist capital.

The twelfth attack in 14 hours occurred this afternoon and raised the casualties to an estimated 1,200 dead and 2,000 wounded.

The city was thrown into panic again at 2 p. m. when squadrons of insurgent planes roared over on the twelfth attack. Bombs dropped at short intervals along the main boulevards.

Cafes jammed by lunch hour crowds became charnel houses. It was estimated that 500 were killed and 1,000 gravely wounded in this raid alone. Hundreds ran screaming into the streets.

One bomb hit a crowded railway station, injuring hundreds.

As this correspondent sat at his desk telephoning London, the wall of the United Press office fell in. The desk was smothered by debris.

Windows crashed down from the detonation of bombs in the nearby central squares, where the casualties were heavy.

Big Buildings Hit.

The planes flew over the central streets and dropped their loads. The bombs made direct hits on at least four large buildings. Buses and street cars crashed and overturned in the streets.

The streets were crowded with panic-stricken people.

Leading hotels on the main boulevards were hit. This raid came without warning. The first sign was broken glass falling from the walls.

People in the streets fled in terror, but they knew not where to find safety.

Firemen rushed about to extinguish a score of fires. Volunteer workers dug bodies from the debris.

The explosions crushed two cafes and killed from 200 to 300 lunchers in them.

Earlier two bombs struck one of the principal railway stations where 400 persons were gathered. One hundred were estimated killed and most of the others were injured.

Throughout the night and day the air raid alarms had screamed their warnings, but Barcelona was unprepared for the 2 p. m. bombing. Most of the people did not know the raiders had returned until bombs began bursting, many of them along the streets where the finest buildings were located.

Some of the bombs hit directly in the streets crowded by pedestrians, street cars and buses. It was believed 200 persons met instant death in streets alone.

The district bombed today had previously been considered the

Cabinet Crisis Brews Over British Foreign Policy

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Informed sources said today that Prime Minister Chamberlain's government was imperilled by a vigorous demand for a change in foreign policy by his secretary for war,' Leslie Hore-Belisha.

The war secretary's demand, these sources said, confronted the prime minister with a virtual ultimatum and foreshadowed the possible recall of Earl Baldwin, Chamberlain's predecessor, and his resigned foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, to lead the conservative forces.

Hore-Belisha was said to be supported fully by Malcolm MacDonald, secretary for the dominions, and possibly also by Walter Ellit, secretary of state for Scotland, and W. S. Morrison, minister of agriculture.

The war secretary was described as demanding a firm declaration of British support for Czechoslovakia and a more positive policy toward the Spanish civil war.

The informants said Chamberlain faced the difficult choice of radically changing his foreign policy to reassert Britain's ages-old support of the balance of power or accepting the resignation of four of his younger cabinet members.

Meanwhile the foreign office maintained silence on the grave issues troubling Europe, especially since Adolf Hitler absorbed Austria and a break favoring European Fascism seemed near in the Spanish conflict.

Silent On Russian Move.

Foreign office officials said they had no knowledge of the sudden call of Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian foreign commissar, to the non-Fascist powers to unite against aggression, and withheld comment.

Germany had a warning from Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, who told the House of Lords that if Adolf Hitler wants to keep peace he must respect his peaceful assurances to Czechoslovakia.

Halifax scored Germany's annexation of Austria as "ruthless application of power politics" and added:

"By those assurances (that Czechoslovakian frontiers would not be violated), solemnly given, and more than once repeated, we naturally expect the German government to abide, and if indeed they desire to see peace maintained, as I earnestly hope they do,

Russia Asks Powers To Parley To Halt 'New World Massacre'

MOSCOW—(AP)—Foreign Minister Litvinoff today invited powers other than Germany, Japan and Italy to discuss joint action aimed at "checking further development of aggression and eliminating increased danger of a new world massacre."

He made the proposal in behalf of the Soviet government. The invitation will be sent to the United States as well as other nations because of the danger of war growing out of Germany's annexation of Austria and Polish-Lithuanian frontier conflicts.

Litvinoff said he was urging the invited powers, including the United States, to discuss joint action to save Czechoslovakia from attack by Germany and Lithuania from Polish aggression.

His formal statement did not mention specifically the calling of a conference, but he said exchanges he envisioned would be tantamount to a conference.

In one of his rare press conferences, the foreign minister indicated other powers would be sounded out on methods whereby collective action could be discussed when Soviet ambassadors had presented his first proposals to other governments.

Litvinoff disclosed that Russia had informed Poland in "a quite friendly way" that the Soviet Union considered the situation between Poland and Lithuania a danger to the peace of eastern Europe.

(Poland has brought pressure to bear on Lithuania for "normalization" of their relations—they have had no diplomatic relations since 1920 when Poland seized Wilno—and for settlement of a border clash in which a Pole was killed.)

DRAFT PLANS TO REROUTE STATE HIGHWAY HERE

Officials Complete Survey of Route 545; Seek to Relieve Traffic at Westinghouse.

Tentative plans for the re-routing of state route 545 through Mansfield were received here today by Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert.

Styert said state highway officials had completed a survey of the route, which runs through the heart of the city and past the Westinghouse plant.

He said the request for re-routing had been made by the city in hopes that some of the congestion at the East Fourth street entrance of the plant might be relieved.

Enters On Marion Avenue.

The route, taken over by the state only last October, now enters the city on Marion avenue, runs east of Park avenue around Central park to Adams street, North on Diamond to Fourth, east on Fourth to Wayne street, and then north to Olivesburg.

Styert said he suggested to state officials that the route be changed to divert traffic from the center part of the city.

The plans, he said call for the route to follow Bowman street from Park avenue to West Sixth street, and then east on Sixth street to Orange and east Orange street to Wayne.

REJECT PETITION

Commissioners Turn Down Proposal to Re-Locate Ditch.

A petition for the re-location of the Rocky Fork ditch north of Mansfield has been dismissed by county commissioners on the grounds that the cost of the project would exceed benefits.

The dismissal was ordered following a hearing at the courthouse. No survey had been made of the proposed project and assessments had not been scheduled.

The proposed ditch is approximately 8,000 feet long and drains an area near the plant of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

TYGERS LAUNCH BID FOR STATE COURT LAURELS TONIGHT

Boston Sox Request $5,000 To Operate Mansfield Club

Evans Plans to Forfeit Franchise Unless City Offers Additional Aid.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

THE Boston Red Sox will not operate the Mansfield club in the Ohio State league this year unless a Boosters' Day subscription of "considerably more than $2,500" is appropriated.

This was learned today in a communication from Billy Evans, director of the Red Sox's minor league clubs.

Discouraged by a deficit of $9,000 incurred in the operation of a championship club last year, Boston has decided to drop Mansfield from its chain, Evans stated in the letter to The News-Journal.

Wants Larger Sum.

Evans said that the American league club would agree to return if a sum in excess of what was subscribed last season to obtain a tie-up with Boston was offered

The Boston official did not state in the letter what amount was desired, but Frank A. Voegele, Mansfield businessman, who served as president of the club last year, said today that he was notified early this week by Evans that a $5,000 Boosters' Day ticket sale was requested.

As this is twice the amount raised in the campaign last year, Voegele, who headed the movement to raise the funds, was unable to state whether a drive to obtain the sum would be attempted

Voegele indicated that he would discuss the matter with other persons who assisted in the drive last year before making a definite move.

Agreeing that Mansfield is the choice city in the Class D circuit, Evans said in his letter that the Red Sox will turn over the territorial rights should the city desire an affiliation with another club

"No doubt there are some big league clubs who might care to put a team in Mansfield," he wrote "If so Mansfield parties may feel free to negotiate with them as I will gladly turn over the territorial rights."

Although willing to forfeit the franchise, Evans indicates that he would like to return this year

'Really I would like to try another season at Mansfield to see if I really sowed the proper seeds for baseball success," he stated. 'It would take a Boosters' Day of considerably more than $2,500 to again induce me to operate in Mansfield, though "

Reason For Transfers.

"As matters now stand, Boston does not intend to operate the Mansfield club this year With that thought in mind, I moved out all of the players to other Boston clubs

' . . We probably did a lot of missionary work last year that will pay dividends Likewise, we have a pretty good ball park and club house, something we didn't have at the start of the season.

"Including rent and the money spent on this feature, it cost around $1,000 to provide us with a proper place to play. Of course, this is too much for a D club That was just one of our many handicaps "

Evans' ultimatum leaves the baseball situation entirely in the hands of Mansfield

What it does will determine the future of the city in organized baseball

Meet Bacon Of Cincinnati At Columbus

Hallabrin Accompanies Team May Appear In Lineup Tonight.

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

COLUMBUS — Mansfield high school courtiers will open their fourth bid for a state basketball championship in the fairground Coliseum at 7 p. m. today.

The Tygers' first round foe is Roger Bacon of Cincinnati, and, if victorious tonight, engage the winner of the Newark-Youngstown East game in a quarter-final tilt at 8 p m Friday. Defeat will mean elimination

Winner of the first state tournament ever held in 1909, Mansfield high school representatives have been unsuccessful in their quest for titular honors in following eliminations.

Reached Semi-Finals.

Mansfield did not return to the state finals until 1919, and reached the semi-finals, the highest a representative has advanced since the championship year.

The Tygers were eliminated by Dover in a first round game in 1927, and make their first appearance in the Columbus event since then today.

What Coach Russ Murphy's men will accomplish in this year's tournament remains to be seen, but their victory hopes were brightened today when the veteran Johnny Hallabrin, who has been ill, was permitted to rejoin the club.

The reliable guard shows little effects of the illness which kept him under the care of a physician earlier this week

With Hallabrin back in the lineup to steady his teammates, the Tygers are accorded an even chance of stopping Roger Bacon tonight

The Mansfield squad, accompanied by Coach Murphy and his assistant, Harry Mehock, consists of 10 players, Hallabrin, Tommy Scott, Jack Dugger, Elmer Dials, Jack Lyons, Ike Smith, Dave Shelley, Rich Nagle, Gene Rudolph and Harold Gallagher The team arrived here early this afternoon, and is quartered at the Fort Hayes hotel

Eight Games Today.

The Mansfield-Cincinnati game is one of eight on schedule in the Class A division in the Coliseum today

Opened at 1 p m. with a game between Findlay and Akron Buchtel, the games follow hourly in this order New Philadelphia vs Xenia Canton McKinley vs Toledo Woodward, Akron East vs Hamilton, Newark vs Youngstown East, Mansfield vs Cincinnati Roger Bacon, Akron St Vincents vs Marietta and Bridgeport vs Bowling Green

Class B games at the Ohio State gym today Genoa vs Enon, New Boston vs Cadiz Radnor vs Hartville, Bettsville vs West Milton North Baltimore vs Upper Arlington, Canal Fulton vs Wyoming, Strasburg vs Welshire and Canfield vs Shawnee Ruling choices in the eliminations are Canton McKinley in Class A and Upper Arlington, defending champion, in Class B.

Class A semi-final games Friday are billed at the Coliseum at 3 and 4 p m and 8 and 9 p. m.

Not a Bad Job Of Scoring Points.

WOOSTER — (UP) — Ward Yardman, six-foot Rittman high school forward, looked back today over a four-year scoring record unequalled by any other high school cager in Wayne county—1,007 points in 83 games.

As a freshman he was off to running start with 136 points in 20 games and the next year he accounted for 293 in 19 games. As a junior he scored 301 in 19 encounters and closed his high school basketball career this season with a total of 347 points in 21 games, giving him a four-year average of 12.97 points per game.

Pin Classic to Be Staged at Meder Alleys, Opening Tuesday, March 29.

BOWLERS, here's news for you! It's about a tournament that you probably have been waiting a long to see develop. It is a city bowling tournament.

The Mansfield bowling association will conduct the tournament, with The News-Journal as co-sponsor, at the Meder Recreation alleys

It will be the greatest local bowling event of the year, and it is planned to make it an annual affair if sufficient interest is displayed in the classic this year.

Every Team Eligible.

Every sanctioned team in Mansfield is eligible, and it will be conducted on a handicap basis to offer every entry a chance to win.

The handicap eliminates any possibility of the stronger teams dominating the tournament.

Due to the numerous bowling activities on schedule in the city the next two months, it will be necessary to stage the tournament during the week.

It will start Tuesday, March 29 and continue for three weeks. All bowling will be scheduled on Tuesdays.

Cash prizes as well as suitable individual awards will be presented to the winners The News-Journal will present the awards symbolic of city event championships.

To encourage every team in the city to compete, a minimum entry fee will be charged. It will cost the competitors one dollar each event The dollar covers bowling fees as well as prize contributions

According to W S Young, secretary of the association, A B C rules, under which the tournament must function, require that every team must be entered with at least three members of the original lineup

Handicaps will be figured up to 195 pins A four-fifths pin handicap will be permitted

The big handicap offers every bowler an opportunity to share in the distribution of the championships.

Bowlers who have not appeared in 18 games or more in sanctioned league competition must bowl from "scratch," according to the A. B C code

Blanks Available.

Entry blanks are now available at the Meder Recreation alleys The deadline for filing entries is Saturday, March 26. Entries must be accompanied by entry fees.

Checks accompanying entries must be made payable to W. S. Young, secretary of the Mansfield bowling association.

BOB TO TOE HILL TODAY

Feller Slated to Hurl One Inning Against Pels; Tribe Stops Phils.

NEW ORLEANS — (U.P.) — Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' "million dollar kid" and baseball's greatest gate attraction, was to make his spring pitching debut here today by hurling one inning of an exhibition game against the New Orleans Pelicans.

A year ago Feller worked long and often, but Manager Oscar Vitt made it plain at the start of the training camp that the Iowa schoolboy would be used sparingly in exhibition games so as not to strain his arm. Despite pressure from many quarters the Tribe's new leader has followed that plan.

Sharing the mound burden with Feller today was to be Bill Zuber and Willis Hudlin.

Cleveland gained an even break in its series with the Philadelphia Phillies by taking a well-played 5-4 decision from the National league club yesterday.

Mel Harder, Al Milnar and Denny Galehouse pitched for the Indians and gave up but seven hits. The Tribe raked Bucky Walters and Hugh Mulcahy for 10.

The hitting star for Cleveland was Hal Trosky, who scecured three safeties in as many trips to the plate.

FISTS FLY AS NATS WIN

Owen, Almada Exchange Swings In Tilt at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Although all hands admitted it wasn't a unanimous decision, Mickey Owen was still hollering in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp today that he came off on top in his fist-tossing party with Mel Almada in yesterday's exhibition game with the Senators. In fact, with the Cards taking a 15-13 beating, Mickey was the only Card winner.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—A wire to Vice President William DeWitt advised the St. Louis Browns that their clouting third-sacker, Harlond Clift, was on the way to the camp and "rarin' to go." Clift came to terms last night, and wired that he was leaving Yakima, Wash., immediately.

Full Participation In Olympics Doubtful.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Full participation of the United States with its strongest team in the 1940 Olympic games, now officially set for Sept. 21 to Oct. 6, in Tokyo appeared more than doubtful today.

Thy Olympic dates were set yesterday by the international committee meeting in Cairo, Egypt, in spite of the protest of Avery Brundage, an American delegate. Brundage contended the late dates would exclude most college track stars of the United States because they would be at school.

Win All-Star Quint Berths

Two Teams Dominate Posts on Senior Loop Team.

The championship Rex Billiards and Benny's Hi Notes each placed two men on the Senior league all-star team announced today by Friendly House officials.

Howard Richards and Jack Breinick of the Billiards and Joe Wentz and Fred Bruback of the Notes were selected on the first team. Richards and Wentz were placed at the forwards, with Breinick at center and Bruback at a guard. Bob Hoffman of the Dinger Independents, Kenny Lockhart of the Blue Goose club and Nick Zeigler of Zeigler Independents were also named on the seven-man first team.

Mansfield Won First Tournament Ever Held.

Mansfield high school won the first state basketball tournament ever held in Ohio. That was in 1909 when the eliminations were held in Delaware.

Tyger teams have never won the Ohio crown since, and this year's club is only the fourth ever to advance to the state finals. Mansfield sent other teams to the state tourney in 1919 and 1927.

ALLEN IS INDIANS' TWIRLING STAR, BUT FELLER DRAWS THE ATTENTION

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Everybody in the hotel lobby turns to gaze when the Feller family—Bob clinging to the hand of his little sister, and proudly followed by Ma and Pa Feller and the family preacher, Charley Fix—goes out through the doors looking for an orange juice stand.

Everybody knows Bob is the most sensational young pitcher in a coon's age and they discuss his chances of pitching Cleveland to a flag this year.

Leaning against a pillar, also watching the Feller family procession, is another Cleveland pitcher. Nobody gapes at him. Wonder what's on his mind. He's Johnny Allen of Lenoir, N. C., who happens to be only the greatest pitcher in baseball on his record for the last six years.

Feller still has his to do. Allen has done his. He won 15 straight victories last year before he was beaten, 1 to 0, by Detroit in his final start. In six years he has won 85 games and lost 30 for a percentage of .739.

For the same period Carl Hubbell shows a winning average of .727, Lefty Gomez .671, Lefty Grove .655 and Dizzy Dean .650.

Allen has been with only one championship team, the Yankees of 1932, his first season in the big show. Hubbell and Gomez have been with three winners each in that time, Dean one.

To make his superiority more emphatic, Johnny has led both leagues in strikeouts, with an average of 5.65 per game and dished out more low-hit games than any rival. He has pitched 18 games of four hits or less.

"I never could get a no-hitter," said Johnny, "but I had a one-hitter and a couple of twos. Somebody always gets a knock off me early in the game."

Johnny doesn't like to talk much about his achievements. He's 32 now, and, fully recovered from an appendix operation last season, feels that his fast ball is going to be faster than ever.

HOW THE THREE LEADING LOW-PRICED CARS COMPARE IN SIZE, ROOM, COMFORT

The size of a car is generally thought to depend upon how much it costs.

The more expensive it is...the roomier it is expected to be.

So any one considering the purchase of one of the three leading low-priced cars might expect to find them all about the same in size because the cost is about the same.

Actually, there are many important differences. The new Plymouth is nearly 7 inches longer than one; more than 10 inches longer than the other!

SOME OF THE BIG VALUE FEATURES OF THE NEW 1938 PLYMOUTH

THE BEAUTIFUL new 1938 Plymouth looks bigger—is bigger—than either of the other two leading low-priced cars. But extra room is just one reason for Plymouth's greater comfort.

You'll find the new Plymouth has faster steering, easier handling. Big airplane-type shock-absorbers and "live" rubber body mountings soak up bumps, jolts, vibration. You ride at ease.

The new Plymouth is the only low-priced car that gives you "radio studio" sound-proofing, double-action hydraulic brakes, an all-steel body, patented Floating Power engine mountings.

In addition, Plymouth owners report 18 to 24 miles on gas...amazing savings on all upkeep.

Four-ring pistons, silent, chain-driven camshaft, a Hypoid rear axle, an oil filter—these are important De Luxe Plymouth features that most manufacturers use on higher-priced lines only.

More for what you pay out...that's what the new 1938 Plymouth offers you today!

Just telephone any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer and ask for a demonstration. There is absolutely no obligation on your part. GAIN COURAGE AS FOREIGN WAR FEARS SUBSIDE

Traders See Recovery Slant In Report Used Car Jam Apparently Broken.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Traders regained part of their courage in today's stock market and leading issues were given a lift of fractions to 2 or more points.

Rallying tendencies were attributed mainly to a slightly better European outlook. In addition domestic business news seemed to have taken on a mildly better tone.

Foreign securities markets reversed their Wednesday's slide. Bonds received support. Commodities were mixed, with grains pointing lower.

A recovery slant was seen in further reports from automobile centers indicating that, with the used car jam apparently broken, increasing demand for new models was expected to bring dealers' stocks down to more normal proportions in the near future.

Banking quarters noted the treasury's figures disclosing the record breaking total of nearly $616,000,000 in income taxes poured into the government's vaults during the first 15 days of March.

BUYS CRUISER

Shelby Accepts Low Bid of $626 For Police Car.

SHELBY—The Laubie Motor Sales company's bid of $626 to provide police with a new cruiser today had been accepted, according to Bert Fix, director of finance.

The Laubie company's bid was $16 below the Bouregois Motor Sales net bid of $642, Fix said. Other bids included: W. C. Gump company, $645.50 and the Ervin Motor Sales, $820. Allowance for the old cruiser was included in the bids.

Bids were being considered today for two trucks for the municipal water and electric companies, Fix stated. The Ervin company was low bidder for the water company truck with $360 net. The low bid for the truck for the electric company was also from the Ervin company at $510.

100 EMPLOYED

Work on WPA Street Projects In City of Shelby.

SHELBY — Approximately 100 men are employed on the city's $65,846 WPA street and sidewalk improvement projects which opened this week with the construction on a sanitary sewer on Clark avenue where 300 to 400 feet of tile will be laid, city officials announced today.

The city-wide project, revised last November and trimmed from the original figure of $140,000, is set up so that the sponsor, which is the city and property owners jointly in some cases and the city alone in others, will pay $26,079 and the WPA will furnish $39,767 to meet the costs of the labor of the program.

Construction of a 10-inch water line is expected to be started next on Mohican street, from Whitney avenue to Smiley avenue, where also an eight-inch concrete pavement will be laid on the street, city officials stated.

HIT 'PRESSURE' ON SENATE BILL

Government Reorganization Foes Criticize White House.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate opponents of the government reorganization bill declared today that White House "assurances" and political pressure had been used in an effort to defeat amendments.

Those "assurances" said Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), have convinced some senators that their "pet bureaus" would not be disturbed by the president in reorganization agencies under the broad powers of the bill.

Wheeler said "pressure" also had been applied through long distance calls to some senators from their home states.

Brings Singers

Bradley Kincaid, above, pioneer among mountain ballad singers on the air, and an NBC star for 10 years, will bring his company of singers to the Madison theater for a two-day engagement, starting Friday. Kincaid has appeared in Mansfield on several occasions.

THEATER

AMONG Hollywood film players the female of the species has far more leisure than the male, according to the Film Daily Year Book of 1938. Last year 62 players appeared in 10 or more pictures and of these, 60 were men and only two were women. Spring Byington made a total of 11 screen performances last year, with Mary Treen a runner-up with ten pictures. Joseph Crehan, veteran character actor, topped all others by appearing in 19 different pictures, and most of them were made by major companies. Among the male players who put in a busy year were E. E. Clive and Franklin Pangborn, with 16 pictures apiece; Billy Gilbert, with his bursting, stuttering wrath, appeared in 14, while Misha Auer, Eidney Blackmer, Alan Mowbray (who died recently), Edward Everett Horton, Luis Alberni and Allen Jenkins made 10.

Kincaid In Person.

Bradley Kincaid, the NBC singer of mountain ballads, will be the stage attraction at the Madison theater Friday and Saturday, with his company of hillbilly singers. Kincaid has appeared in Mansfield before, several years ago when the balladeer and his guitar first came into radio popularity. He has been on the air continuously for almost a decade and is identified by his closing theme of "Keep Cheerful." Kincaid was one of the first—his company claims he was the first—singer of mountain songs on the air lanes. His songs are strictly mountain folk songs and not the regular hillbilly type of music. The screen fare augmenting the stage presentation will be topped with "Maid's Night Out," with Joan Fontaine and Allen Lane. It's a merry romance between a millionaire's son who agrees to serve as milkman for a month, and a penniless debutante whom he believes to be the maid-of-all-work.

And So To Bed.

There is comedy as well as beauty and whimsy in Walt Disney's "Snow White and The Seven Dwarfs," which the Ohio is showing the entire week. At one point the dwarfs come home to find their cottage all cleaned up, and when one of the dwarfs cries out that their dishes have been stolen, another says, "No they aren't gone—they are only hidden in the cupboard!" And when the sprites and elves, the leprechauns, the birds and the queer little people of the forest turn their energies to washing the clothes, even the big, fat turtle finds that for once he is useful—he turns himself over and they use his rough, corrugated tummy for a washboard. And when the work is completed and the cottage is spick and span, Snow White goes up to bed, taking three of the tiny beds to accomodate her, and the bluebirds cover her up for the night.

Something New.

It's something of a task these days, after the movies have invaded all the trades and professions, to find interesting characters to weave stories around, but there is "something new under the movie sun" in "Slim," which the Majestic is offering for the last half of the week. "Slim" is the story colorful, perilous, touch-and-go lives of the high-tension linemen, who put up steel towers across the land and string high voltage wires and cable which carry electric power across mountains and deserts. Pat O'Brien plays the head lineman of the roving gang with Henry Fonda as the farm boy who glorifies him. Margaret Lindsay is seen as a nurse, and their lives run parallel and cross, with happiness in the end for two of them and tragedy for one. Miriam Hopkins, Edward G. Robinson and Joel McCrea in "Barbary Coast" is the second feature.

Familiar Territory.

Annapolis, which has formed the background for so many motion pictures serves that purpose again in "Annapolis Salute," which brings James Ellison, Marsha Hunt, Van Heflin and Harry Carey to the Ritz for Friday and Saturday. The United States naval academy has been picturized so often in recent years that every American must be thoroughly familiar with the activities and maneuvers of the institution which turns out our navy officers. A feud between two midshipmen over a pretty girl is the motivating theme. Lovely Judith Allen plays opposite William Boyd in the latest Hopalong Cassidy episode, "Texas Trail," which is the second feature at the Ritz.

DEATH TAKES WOMAN AT 103

Aged Bucyrus Resident Often Recalled Civil War Battles She Saw In Pennsylvania.

Ensminger went to live with her daughter, Miss Alberta.

Mrs. Ensminger's memories of Civil war days included a battle at Cernet's Gap, Pa., near her home. She often told of the runners who traveled through the country during the war to warn of an approaching band of "Rebel" soldiers.

Once, she related, the residents of the community hid their provisions in a church tower after hearing of a proposed raid by southern cavalrymen.

In the World war, more than a half century later, Mrs. Ensminger spent weeks knitting garments for American soldiers in France, and relatives said her failing eyesight in later years was due to the eyestrain induced by the knitting in 1917.

Mrs. Ensminger was a member of the St. Paul's Lutheran church and retained until her death her membership in the Missionary society of the church.

Besides her daughter, Alberta, she is survived by a son Charles, of Bucyrus, and four grandchildren. Two sons and one daughter preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Wise funeral home, Bucyrus. Rev. S. G. Dornblazer, former pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, assisted by Rev. Ralph Harshman of Germantown, will officiate. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery, Bucyrus.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening.

Buffalo Police Hold Divorced Husband of Slain Woman.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Peter Burton, 39-year-old suspect in the strangling of his divorced wife and another woman in Detroit, was held today for Detroit authorities.

Burton was arrested last night in a rooming house. He had been hunted since his divorced wife, Mrs. Monica Janonis, 40, and her landlady, Mrs. Ursula Jakubowski, 53, were found dead in a Detroit boarding house.

According to reports from Detroit, Mrs. Janonis was tied hand and foot, attacked and strangled with wire. Mrs. Jakubowski was found with a towel knotted around her neck.

'SACK BANDIT' WOUNDS DRIVER

Trucker Shot As Gunman Fires In Gasoline Station.

MARION—(U.P.)—James Greenfield, Middletown truck driver, suffered a flesh wound in the arm last night as northwestern Ohio's "sack bandit" robbed a Marion filling station of $17.

Blamed for more than a score of recent robberies, the shotgun-wielding marauder, who wears a sack over his head, fired his weapon twice when attendent George W. Cline, 23, failed to hand over the money promptly.

"That'll give you something to remember me by," cried the hold-up man, grabbing the money and fleeing.

KILLED IN GAS STATION HOLDUP

Clevelander Shot While Wife Looks on; Gunman Flees.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Police today sought a man who shot and killed Samuel Licker, 40, in an attempted gasoline station holdup.

Licker, operator of a Euclid avenue gas station, was shot by the man as he grappled for possession of a gun, according to Licker's wife, Mildred, who saw the shooting.

Mrs. Licker told police she was telephoning when the man entered the station and that she looked up in time to see him grappling with her husband. The gun the bandit held was discharged and Licker fell. The gunman fled on foot.

ONDOV'S FAITH AND SCIENCE WIN

Divinity Student, Paralyzed Since Nov. 4, Will Walk Again, Surgeon Says.

It was a question of who was the happier—Dr. LeFever, the nationally known specialist in spine surgery, or the young divinity student who has been held in the grip of a deadly paralysis for four months.

After Ondov had been on the operating table for two hours and 15 minutes yesterday afternoon at General hospital, Dr. LeFever announced that "barring unforseen complications, Michael will be perfectly normal again. It will take time for complete recovery, but I am sure he will walk again and be able to return to a normal life."

Ondov was still under the influence of the anesthetic last night and was not able to understand until this morning that he had won in a 50-50 gamble with his future as the prize.

Strangely enough, Ondov had placed all of his hopes on Dr. LeFever weeks ago, before the specialist had even heard of the case. The Wittenberg student had heard of Dr. LeFever's success in a case similar to his own, and when it became apparent that an operation on the spine was the last hope of releasing the lower half of his body from paralysis, he centered his hopes on being able to interest the Columbus specialist in his case. Mansfield friends and his local physician contacted Dr. LeFever and the specialist came to see Ondov last week and decided to operate at once.

Pressure Halts Spinal Fluid.

It had been determined that some pressure or obstruction of the spine was making it impossible for the fluid to pass through the spinal cord in the area of the first lumbar vertabrae. The vertabrae had been twisted out of shape during an auto accident on Nov. 5, when the car in which Ondov was riding turned over a number of times and he was pinned between the front and back seats.

His back was set and he was placed in a cast. Five blood transfusions were given him in the fight to save his life, with his fellow students at Wittenberg supplying most of the blood. But in spite of medical and nursing care, and the fact that he survived the injury, the lower half of his body remained dead to all feeling and action.

Yesterday afternoon when the surgeon opened the back and a part of the vertabrae, he found that a frayed piece of bone was pressing against the spinal cord, shutting off circulation of the vital spinal fluid, and that adhesions had formed around the injury.

As a number of Mansfield surgeons watched, these were skillfully removed, and before the incision was closed Dr. LaFever said that the fluid had started to move through the obstructed area, and that the cord appeared to be in healthy condition.

The Columbus surgeon said that the excellent care and daily massages which Ondov has received at General hospital, and his general physical condition played a large part in making the operation a success and in Ondov's ultimate recovery.

Ondov's case has created considerable interest throughout the state, ever since his fellow students made repeated trips to Mansfield to give him their blood.

Mansfield has been both interested and generous in his behalf. Necessary expenses of the operation will be met by a fund which is being raised by the Lutheran churches of the city. Churches, clubs and individuals have already contributed more than $500, according to Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, treasurer of the fund, and contributions will be received again at Lutheran churches Sunday.

FUNERAL FRIDAY

in order to cut down the city's share of the cost, if the paving job is approved.

"If council approves the paving it would be well to kill two birds with one stone and lay the water line at the same time," he said.

The water main has been under consideration for some time and is a part of the city-wide improvements incorporated in the water distribution plan that has already been approved by WPA officials in Washington.

The main, which will link two 12-inch lines at either end of the street, would cost $13,000 to the city if laid with WPA labor. By contract, the estimate has been set at $20,000, by A. M. Mock, city designing engineer.

HULL HITS AT LAWLESSNESS

Sees Treaty-Breaking, Spread of Violence as Threat to Present Civilization.

to which blind extremism of this type would consign this country and the world."

Refers to Germany.

Hull did not mention by name Germany or Austria, or the Hitler coup but he left no doubt to whom he referred as treaty breakers and nations whose actions tend to international anarchy.

He said flatly America has no alliance or understanding—as has been charged—with any foreign nation, and has no intention of forming any. He said the United States has not the slightest intention "to entertain any such notion as the use of American armed forces for policing the world."

On the other hand, he asserted, this nation proposes to continue to respect the rights and interests of all peace loving nations, and intends that all other nations respect American lives, property, and rights in all parts of the world.

While pursuing a policy of peace with all nations, Hull said this government will not permit its defense forces to deteriorate when other nations are arming to the teeth.

EXTENDS POLICE SIGNAL SYSTEM INTO WOODLAND

City to Use Two Miles of Wire In Installing Call Boxes In Southwest Section.

Plans for the extension of the police signal system into the Woodland area with the installation of two call boxes at a cost of approximately $500 was disclosed today by City Electrician Ernest Adams.

The boxes will be installed at the intersections of Lexington avenue and Edgewood road and Woodland and Edgewood road.

Adams pointed out that to make the installations it will be necessary to extend the present signal circuits by using nearly two miles of wire.

Outside of System Now.

The two circuits now terminate at points close well within the city limits, one at Arch and South Main streets and the other at Glessner avenue and Marion avenue, leaving the southwestern part tf the city without communication to the station.

Adams explained that although police have the radio for communication, they are quite often asked to call the station, and if they are in the Woodland area, it means a trip nearly downtown to make the call, and then they may have to go back into the same district again.

Construction on the aerial extensions will be started within a week, he said. The call boxes will be of the new standard type. The entire project is expected to be completed in the next six weeks.

The project will be financied from the police signal system fund for which $1,000 wes set up in the annual appropriations bill.

Territory Celebration Group Meets Again Saturday.

As a move towards the enlargement of the celebration committee arranging for Mansfield's part in the celebration of the sesqui-centennial anniversary of the Northwest Territory, a meeting of subcommittee chairmen has been called for Saturday, John Correll, general chairman, announced today.

Plans will be drafted for enlarging the general committee to assist in arrangements for the staging of a pageant here when the ox-team caravan—a counterpart of the original expedition that is recreating the trek of the pioneers into the Northwest Territory 150 years ago—reaches Mansfield May 2.

Following the trail of the original expedition, the caravan left Ipswich, Mass., Dec. 3, and is due to arrive in Marietta on April 7, and will continue through other Ohio cities and the other four states.

Saturday's meeting has been set for 4 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms.

Czechoslovakia Depends on Army Like This

Czechoslovakia is prepared to defend itself against invasion from Germany should the German fuehrer try to take over the central European republic as he did Austria. These pictures are of maneuvers of Czechoslovakia's army, which numbers 1,875,000 with reserves. It is well trained. In addition, word from Prague has it that Soviet Russia and France have both given Czechoslovakia formal and official assurance they would furnish military assistance in event of interference from abroad. Within Czechoslovakia itself there is division—a fifth of the population of 15,000,000 being German.

FISH AND GAME GROUP TO JOIN IN FEDERAL WILDLIFE PROGRAM

In observance of National Wildlife Restoration week which begins Sunday, the Richland County Fish and Game Protective association will launch a campaign to make the county conscious of the importance of wildlife preservation, John C. Friday, president of the oragnization, said today.

"The time is too short to permit any organized county-wide observance of Wildlife Restoration week," Friday asserted, "but we hope to form a committee of representatives of interested clubs, Boy Scouts, schools and farm organizations to promote conservation week."

He said no date had been set for a meeting of the groups, but added that the Fish and Game Protective association would begin immediately to plan an extensive conservation program and would enlist the help of other clubs and groups.

Financial backing for the conservation work will come from the sale of the new Wildlife Poster stamps, which serve the same purpose for animal and plant life in the nation that the health stamps do for tuberculosis sufferers, Friday added.

The stamps, which will be sold by the county game protective association, are to be used on envelopes to advertise the conservation program. They are issued by the General Wildlife Federation, a national organization headed by Jay N. "Ding" Darling, noted sportsman and wildlife expert.

Working with Friday in setting up the program is County Agent George B. Ganyard who emphasized the importance of making farmers aware of the ways in which they can protect the natural beauty of their property.

TALKS TO CLUB

CRESTLINE—B. R. Atzenhoefer of Norwalk, district conservation commissioner, was the guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club held Wednesday noon at the Y. M. C. A.

Game and "Wild Life" was the subject of Mr. Atzenhoefer's talk.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Walt Disney ought to know about this.

It happened at a luncheon of scientists at the American Museum of Natural History here. Curators of all the kinds of animals Disney animates were present.

They were discussing the Disney film, "Snow White And The Seven Dwarfs." And they said—

Disney's insects' wings were wrong.

No animal could stand on hind legs the way tthey do in "Snow White" to peer into the window of the dwarfs' cottage.

No deer has a tongue long enough to wrap around a dish the way they do in dusting off the dwarfs' dishes.

No turtle could climb stairs headfirst, as the Snow White one does.

The turtle might go upstairs tail first, if at all.

His neck couldn't pull him up the way it does in the dwarfs' house.

Snakes don't wriggle in verticle loops. They wriggle from side to side.

And the scientist who made these remarks added:

"I'm glad Walt Disney didn't ask the scientists first."

Deaths in the county decreased, with 59 reported during February as compared with 62 in January. Of the number, 42 were reported in the city and 17 in the county.

FIVE BOOKS FOR LENTEN READING ON LIBRARY LIST

Non-Fiction Additions Include Others That Deal With World Conflicts.

Books for Lenten reading and others on present world conflicts hold a prominent place on the non-fiction list which the Public library announced today.

A group of five books for Lenten reading includes "Recoveries In Religion," by Sockman; "Through Science To God," Smyth; "Jesus Christ Our Lord," Baab; "Security For A Failing World" by Cobb; and "Biography of The Bible" by Ernest Sutherland Bates.

Boake Carter, nationally known political commentator and Thomas H. Healy outline the facts of what the Far East means to every American citizen in their recently published book, "Why Meddle In The Orient?" Edgar Snow's "Red Star Over China" covers life in China during the past nine years, up to August 1937, and explains clearly the extraordinary events and intrigues that finally resulted in present Sino-Japan situation.

A short book on the possibility of America keeping out of war is "The Troubled World" by Eleanor Roosevelt. "Britain Faces German" by A. L. Kennedy is an objective and concise book on Hitler's Germany. The author indicates that the conduct of Britain and France have aided Hitler in stirring the German people against the Versailles treaty.

One on Radio Comments

Getting entirely away from national conflicts is a book on Deems Taylor's radio coments, "Of Men and Music," and "The American Singer" by Oscar Thompson, one of the foremost of New York critics. He presents fascinating stories of personal achievements and revives events and scenes of past operatic eras in America. Of interest to people who are given to sleep dreams is "An Experiment With Time" by J. W. Dunne, which demonstrates the fact that everybody possesses the prophetic faculty to some degree.

"Children of Light," published in honor of Howard H. Brinton, is a history of the achievements of the Friends in America and abroad. "The Technique of the Disciple" is another book from the Rosicrucians Order, and "Concerning Progressive Revelation" by Vivian Phelips, is a gift to the library from the author.

Other non-fiction includes five volumes on "Deisel Engineering"; "It's All About You" by Lyon; and "Doctors On Horseback" by Flexner.

Heading the fiction list this week is Hervey Allen's new novel "Action at Aquila," a romance of the Civil war. In contrast to his "Anthony Adverse," Allen's new book is concentrated in one locale and one period of time, with comparative economy of characters.

"This Proud Heart" by Pearl Buck portrays a woman who lives alone in spirit. Because of her ability to accomplish much Susan Gaylord finds family and friends jealous of her. The novel is a stirring picture of American life. Franz Werfel's novel on the life of Jeremiah the Prophet "Hearken Unto The Voice" interprets for the reader a strange and lonely figure in the Bible.

"Bow Down To Wood and Stone" by Josephine Lawrence is a story of three sisters, each spending her life as she wanted to; one devoted to children, one to her husband's success and the third to her job.

RELIEF SHORTAGE

CLEVELAND — (NS) — Mayor Harold H. Burton fixed the city's direct relief shortage for 1938 at $6,470,959.

In delivering his budget request to city council, the mayor pointed out that the state legislature's stop-gap relief funds made $2,755,500 available to Cleveland, while direct relief costs for the year were estimated at $9,226,459.

Britain's Answer to Hitler's Defiance

Replying to fiery speech made by Adolf Hitler in Vienna, in which the fuehrer declared his annexation of Austria none of Britain's business, Sir Neville Chamberlain announces England's readiness to build an additional fleet of 400 war planes. SURVEY SHOWS CLOTHES TO COST RICHLAND FARMER $29 IN 1938

The well-dressed Richland county farmer will spend about $29 on his new Easter toggery and his clothing for the rest of the year, a U. S. department of agriculture survey revealed today.

And Mr. Farmer won't believe this, but he probably will spend a dollar more for his outfit than his wife. Her clothing budget for the year, including a new Easter bonnet, will total around $28, the survey indicated.

The clothing survey was made in Richland, Crawford and Knox counties as three average farm sections in the state. Figures are based on the expenditures of several farmers and their wives over a specific period.

The figures quoted won't permit much replenishing of wardrobes, indicating that the farmer makes his "best Sunday suit" last more than a year, while his wife, too, must do some mending on her garments.

An itemized account of expenditures shows the farmer uses his clothing money this way:

Suits, shirts and trousers, $11; shoes, $6; underwear and hose, $4; coats and other wraps, $3; hats and caps, $2, and all other clothing, $3.

The farmer's wife spends her $28 a year in the following manner: footwear $6; underwear and hose $6; coats and other wraps, $5, suits, skirts, blouses and dresses, $5; hats and barets, $2; all other accessories and cleaning expense, $4.00.

The department's survey, as reported to The News-Journal by the International News Service, showed that the socially-inclined farm family spent slightly more money for apparel than the "stay-at-homes."

SUES OVER WILL

Ashlander One of 3 Seeking Part of $100,000 Estate.

David Barnhart of Ashland, one of three persons seeking to share in the $100,000 estate of his brother, James W. Barnhart, one-time owner of several Chicago barber shops, who died two years ago, today was ready to testify in a suit to have the will, written on a small slip of paper, set aside, according to Associated Press dispatches from Chicago.

The will leaves the bulk of the estate to a daughter, Mrs. Marguerite B. Cummings, 31, of Chicago, and was placed in evidence yesterday, the dispatches said.

The other two heirs bringing suit are a brother, Ernest Barnhart of Wadsworth, O., and a sister, Mrs. Eva B. Slater of Creston, O.

In their action they charge that the will, dated two days before Barnhart's death on March 29, 1936, is fraudulent, and ask that a previous will, dated Dec. 5, 1932, be declared legal.

KITCHEN PLACE FOR GATHERINGS

Parties, No Matter How Formal, Tend to Wind Up There In Delightful Informality.

Trends in modern living add a new "living room" to the home. The kitchen, once sacred to mother and the hired girl, and from which all others were banned, has become the center for family gatherings. Even parties, no matter how formal at the start, tend toward delightful informality as the evening wears on simply because you can't keep folks out of the kitchen these days

Unlike most social customs, this new popularity of the kitchen appears to have originated among the poor rather than among the rich or well-to-do. The woman did all her work and had a house full of men folks or children to be fed three times a day found that it saved an endless amount of labor if she fed them right in the kitchen instead of carrying everything into another room—if there was another room available. Eating in the kitchen was frowned on, however, by those who could afford a hired girl to serve the meal in the dining room.

Furthermore, the kitchen was all too frequently a most unattractice room. It was hot, and likely to be filled with steam and the odors from cooking. Its furniture was the poorest in the whole house, often consisting of the discards from other rooms. It was far from a desirable place for the family to gather. Members of the family were always in the way as the busy home maker hurried back and forth from pantry to woodshed, to stove, to sink, in a criss-cross, never-ending patter of footsteps.

MODERNIZE --- ELECTRIFY YOUR KITCHEN - - - Today!

Attractive, Convenient For Housewife

An all-electric kitchen such as this is something that makes the housewife sing at her work. Attractively and conveniently arranged, this kitchen not only takes the drudgery out of preparing meals but is a real 'show spot" of the home. It is planned so that cleaning is an easy task and so that footsteps are reduced to an absolute minimum.

ANNOUNCES CAMPAIGN

The Modern Kitchen bureau has announced plans, to be put into effect immediately, for a comprehensive sales and advertising program. Upwards of $350,000 will go into the effort.

WISE HOUSEWIFE ACTS QUICKLY

Every woman knows the value of planning her day's work. The more she must accomplish between daybreak and bed time, the more necessary it is that she take a few moments to map out her program for the day. Otherwise there are many minutes lost both morning and afternoon, and when night comes, important tasks are still unfinished.

If it is worth while to plan each day, how much more important to plan the savings which can be made to occur every day throughout the year and each day for many years to come. That is the basic reason for kitchen planning, according to the National Kitchen Modernizing bureau. If, at the cost of a few hours of careful planning she can rearrange her kitchen to save time, steps and labor every day for the rest of her life, isn't she wise to do that planning now?

MODERN KITCHEN PLANNED TO REDUCE HOUSEKEEPING EFFORT

Efficiency and charm are the hallmarks of the modern kitchen Both play their part in keeping the housewife young. Both help save her from constant struggle with antiquated, awkward and inconvenient equipment, badly arranged in unattractive surroundings. Efficiency and charm help to make the kitchen, in many instances, the most attractive and popular room in the home.

Efficiency in the kitchen comes through modern, automatic electrical equipment, designed to do specific tasks with precision and economy. It comes from the arrangement of this electrical equipment, with cabinets and work counters, in the sequence which permits the housewife to do her work in the quickest time and with the least effort. It comes through modern lighting, through washable wall and floor coverings, through stainless metals and resistant enamels which are easily cleaned

Charm in the kitchen is the quality that makes its owner want to show it to her friends, that makes her enjoy just being in it every day. The texture and color of walls and floor covering do much to make the modern kitchen attractive. Most important in making the kitchen attractive is this same modern electrical equipment, as beautiful in design as it is useful and efficient in operation.

No longer is the kitchen the dingy place it once was, yet it need not be so spotlessly white that it reminds one unpleasantly of a hospital ward Color appears on the floor, on walls, cabinets and other furniture It appears on utensils which now may be kept so clean with the use of electricity as fuel. Curtains and cutlery both add their touch of color to the kitchen.

The modern kitchen has adequate storage space and work space. because these contribute much to its efficiency and its saving of labor. Work counter, tables and cabinets should be at convenient height from the floor. Cabinets are needed on walls and beneath counters, but these are not enough. The refrigerator should be preferably in the kitchen; otherwise the amount of walking back and forth in preparation for each meal is vastly increased. And for economy's sake, the refrigerator must be large enough to care for a week's supply of food, if necessary. Thus the housewife can save money by quantity buying, since her electric refrigerator keeps it safely until needed for use. Of course, an electric refrigerator produces a plentiful supply of ice cubes and permits the making of all the dainty frozen desserts so popular not only in summer but at all seasons of the year.

Planned Kitchen Saves Footsteps For Housewives

When you drive your car down town tomorow morning, you will make one stop for gas, oil and air If you were forced to fill the gasoline tank at one place, drive a block farther on for oil, and drive still further to put air in the tires, you would consider it stupidly inconvenient and inefficient.

Yet many a home throughout the country today has a kitchen just as badly arranged as this, when simple modernizing would place every part of it in proper relation to the rest, the National Kitchen Modernizing bureau declares.

As in our automobiling example above, the home kitchen has three centers at which work is performed by the housewife: (1) the food storage and preparation center; (2) the sink-dishwashing center, and (3) the range-serving center Each of these is a separate unit, but they must be properly arranged in relation to each other to save steps and time and obtain efficiency.

The food storage—preparation center should have your refrigerator close beside the counter or table where you prepare your food for cooking. Above and below the counter should be cabinets for storing non-perishable foods, materials and utensils. Thus all your food storage and food preparation is organized without any waste motion.

NEW EUROPEAN WAR 'CERTAIN,' HISTORIAN SAYS

Harvard Professor Emeritus Says Russia Only Country That Can Stop Hitler.

(By United Press)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass — Albert Bushnell Hart, dean of American historians, declared today that another European war is inevitable.

"The United States will not enter into any way unless it is clear that our national existence is threatened," the white-bearded Harvard professor-emeritus added in an interview with the United Press.

He believed that Hitler, dreaming of a new and greater German empire, will seize Czechoslovakia "perhaps within four weeks — at least within four months."

"No military force that can be raised could prevent Germany from taking Czechoslovakia," he said. "The Czechs could not hold out four days. There would perhaps be one battle—a showdown."

Next—or perhaps before—Hitler will annex Poland, Hart predicted.

Can't Halt Invasion.

"I had expected him to take over Poland before this, even before Austria. I don't see why he had held off so long His international defense for such a step would be stronger than for taking Czechoslovakia The people of western Poland, the aristocracy, are either Germans or German-speaking. And of course, if we are going to move into western Poland, he would take over the whole country. The Poles are a gallant people, but they have no organization that could resist Hitler's troops for three days."

The Baltic states — Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia—and Finland likewise will fall to Germany, probbaly in bloodless revolution, Hart believed.

"That will link Germany and Russia cheek by jowl." Then it will be only a matter of time before war breaks out.

"Britain and France will be forced to side with Russia, and it looks as though Italy would side with Germany. Right now Germany is patting Italy on the back and telling her, 'Don't be scared'."

The only thing that can stop the expansion of the German empire, barring Hitler's death by illness or assassination, is Russia, Hart said.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 1 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1938.

Europe was like this a century and a half ago, with Napoleon kicking kings around.

Masterly understatement: A writer visiting Hollywood for the first time speaks of "the slight, smoldering insanity you feel in the air here."

Sensible War on Noise.

ST. LOUIS has begun an anti-noise movement. An ordinance has been proposed, backed by the Chamber of Commerce, which would reduce unnecessary street noises. It is a reasonable ordinance, the authors of which recognize that a certain amount of noise is unavoidable with a certain amount of traffic. It does not forbid the use of automobile horns, for example, but would stop excessive honking. Street radios and amplifiers are not considered necessary, and more stringent regulations will be applied to them. The cries of street vendors are to be toned down, somehow, a change which should improve sales. Harsh and raucous bawling frequently drives away trade.

The anti-noise advocates are not starting with the ordinance, but with public education on the subject of noise. Noises have been measured in factories, on street corners and elsewhere, the unnecessary ones classed separately from the unavoidable ones. When the public has become convinced of the possibility of continuing normal city activities with less nerve-wrecking noise, it is expected to support the ordinance and its enforcement.

Nazi Wealth.

AN INTERESTING detail of the Nazi occupation of Austria was the display of wealth made by the German soldiers arriving in Vienna. Every private was given 100 marks, about $40, for extra spending money. That would be as much as an Austrian colonel got in a week. The Austrians were much impressed, as they were intended to be. If German soldiers could throw around money in that fashion, there could be no doubt about German prosperity and the success of Naziism.

Few observers would trouble to ask where the money came from—what the German treasury was using for money. It would be paper, of course, supposedly based on gold; but there is so little gold in the German treasury that no public accounting has been made for years, and nobody except Dr. Hugo Schacht and a few cabinet members know how close the government is to bankruptcy as a result of its vast rearmament program.

Hitler doubtless hopes to pay for rearmament more easily with the aid of the Austrian and Czechoslovakian Germans, and such alien races as he may sweep into the Nazi net. He and his followers are now riding high, wide and handsome. Nobody knows whether they are riding to conquest of the continent or to a fiscal crash.

Foreign Investments.

IT IS REASSURING to learn that loans and direct investments abroad, held by Americans, declined $4,000,000,000 from 1929 to 1936. They are doubtless lower yet by this time.

Our people, however, still have plenty of money invested abroad—about $13,000,000,000 of private funds, and government debts of the same amount. We have long given up hope of collecting those public claims, and will probably be lucky if we ever get back more than half of the private claims.

Much has been said, in recent years, regarding the poor judgment of the government in lending so much money to foreign governments during and shortly after the World war. Most of those loans, though, seemed justified at the time, and might be regarded as part of the "mopping up" of the mess in which that enterprise involved us.

As for our private investments abroad, it must be admitted that billions of them have been at least as ill-advised as those made by the government. Our people have been too easy marks, taking too lightly the recommendations of self-interested salesmen and sponsors of foreign loans, both in Europe and Latin-America. We had better invest our money at home hereafter.

Desecrated Tunes.

Reverence may survive even in radio. The manager of one of the broadcasting stations has started a campaign to "save from desecration" a dozen songs beloved by the American public, as follows:

"Annie Laurie," "Loch Lomond," "Comin' Through the Rye," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Juanita." "Sweet Genevieve," "In the Gloaming," "I Love You Truly," Brahms' "Lullaby," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "The Last Rose of Summer."

They are to be saved specifically from swing bands. The radio engineers have been ordered to "fade out" any bands that take undue liberties with these songs, and substitute other music. "We desire to preserve the songs that Americans have learned to love and cherish in their original form," says the manager.

There are doubtless many other songs that might well be saved from the volunteer improvements of our popular musicians.

Democracy's Gifts.

THOMAS MANN, the great German author and university professor who is now an exile from his native land, believes that democracy will persist. Lecturing in America, he defends democracy and tells us we should be ashamed of ourselves for ever doubting its principles and its adequacy.

"I affirm my belief in the final victory of democracy," he says. "It dignifies the human being, it respects humanity. Real democracy can never injure aristocratic characteristics, where the word aristocratic does not stand for birth but for spirituality."

We need such statements now and then to keep before us the basic meaning of democracy. It should, of course, promote prosperity and well-being through opportunity and freedom. But its greatest gifts are opportunity and freedom themselves, and the human dignity, the respect for individuality and the spirituality that they protect.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

YOU HAVE BEEN reading of Herbert Hoover's travels in Europe. He has made quite an impression abroad — again — hasn't he?

Hoover is America's best ambassador, men who have known him in the past say.

He has an international mind, in many respects—not all. To have an international mind in these nationalistic days is to condemn a man.

President Roosevelt, with all his reforms and progressivism, has a nationalistic mind.

It is true that President Roosevelt has succeeded in being a "good neighbor" with the Latin American countries — something that Herbert Hoover's stubbornness could not possibly achieve—but, all in all, the New Deal is nationalistic, except in one notable respect: reciprocal trade treaties. And that virtually was forced on the New Deal by an extremely persistent man, Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

It is a curious thing that in the one matter in which Herbert Hoover, as president, could have helped to ward off the worst of the depression, he became extremely nationalistic, and disregarded common sense logic—the tariff. He signed the highest tariff bill on record, because it was Republican and the men who were putting up the money for the Republican party desired it. Nearly everybody was wiped out by it, for it accentuated the collapse of 1929-30.

Herbert Hoover acts best alone. If he had acted in regard to the tariff according to the dictates of his international mind, he might be the best presidential possibility the Republicans had today.

DOES HE STILL HOPE?

Perhaps Herbert Hoover still believes he is a Republican presidential possibility.

His tour of Europe has made good "copy."

His supposed strong assertions to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler that America never would tolerate Nazism was splendid for home effect, and those assertions came at the right time, just before the Fuehrer startled the world again. Yet, some strong anti-Nazis may take umbrage that Hoover called on Hitler at all.

Hoover's tour, with receptions in his honor everywhere as the man who fed starving millions during wartime and post-war time, might be his method to begin a 1940 boom for himself. Surely, no other Republican at the moment stands out so strongly.

We hear of Senator Henry Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Gov. George Aiken of Vermont but one doubts whether they would make much of a showing in the vast stretch of Roosevelt country. If, in 1938, one of the large states would go Republican, then the fortunate governor could make a name for himself.

Of course, there is Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. But his recent activities in the senate have not been striking. He plays the same tune a bit too much, some of the hinterland leaders are saying.

WRONG REACTION

The Republican leadership in congress is not playing the game exactly as the G. O. P. leadership at home desires.

It is blocking President Roosevelt on the most popular questions instead of those not so popular.

For example, the Republicans, together with a coalition of conservative Democrats, upset a proposed tax on closed, or family holding companies; it revoked publicity of salaries paid by corporations (finally restoring it for those above $75,000); it took advantage of the TVA family quarrel to try to jettison not only that project, but all other government power projects; it seemed to line up on every angle with Wall Street.

Now, what is the view at home? Ask any local leader; he will tell you. The majority of folk at home believe that Wall Street still "is getting away with murder." They believe that President Roosevelt still has not gone far enough. And, as for government power projects, even local businessmen pray for them in their vicinity. Try to take the TVA away from the south, and you would have almost armed revolt.

And what was occurring when the Republican leadership in congress was stifling the Roosevelt measures? The worst failure in years occurred in Wall Street. The head of the firm, who for five years had been president of the stock exchange and whose brother is a Morgan partner, was so badly entangled that not only the law forces of the federal and state governments had to take a hand, but the stock exchange itself had to denounce the methods of its former president.

A condition was disclosed so rotten that even Wall Street's defenders turned their heads away in shame, but saying it was the case of merely one individual "going wrong."

Everyday Poems

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

So Merciful Is This.

You will get used to sorrow, you
At last will smile again;
Time heals all things, the bitter grief
You think is endless pain

And that you cannot possibly
Endure, time heals all this.
And so at last your sorrow you
Forget, at least dismiss

From thought. So merciful it is
That time can surely bring
Again the peace without which life
Is not worth anything.

Farley Policies Tossed Overboard By New Deal

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — The Farley maxim that the Democrats should fight to the last ditch for every possible elective office, no matter how hopeless the fight might seem, and always with a view to building up the organization for the "next election" is being shamelessly abandoned, according to some very caustic critics inside the Democratic party.

Out in the country some Democratic leaders, sharing this view, are very much disturbed. They are telling their senators and representatives that all is not well, that the Republicans are likely to make big inroads this fall, and that there will be a terrific number of casualties among Democratic house members, if not among Democratic senators.

This impression that the Democratic machine is not functioning at top speed, that it is depending more on general propaganda and more on the strength of Roosevelt with the voters, is enhanced when such pessimists come to Washington and try to get something done about it.

"I told our problems to Charley Michelson," a Democratic worker from Missouri told some friends afterwards, "and I was afraid he would go to sleep while I was talking."

What that worker did not know, of course, was that Charley might be excused for being bored at hearing the same tale for the thousandth time. On the other hand there is the old story of the boy who kept crying, "Wolf! Wolf!" when there was no wolf, and who regretted his false alarms very much when, after the real wolf came, no one paid any attention to his cries.

There are some influential members of the party, however, who believe that it is good strategy to let down for a while.

They don't think it would hurt very much if the Republicans should gain sixty or seventy seats in the house of representatives this fall. They do not expect that the Republicans will do anything like this well, but point out that there would be some advantages to such a change. For one thing the Democratic majority in the house would not be so unwieldy and top-heavy. For another it would put, as they express it, the "fear of God" in the hearts of the surviving Democrats. So these survivors might be brought to heel much more easily on White House commands.

"But suppose the Republicans should actually get control of the house?" one of them was asked.

"That is almost impossible," retorted the Democrat. "But suppose they did? Wouldn't that put the Republicans on the spot before the country? What could they do except snipe at the president and the New Deal? I think actually it would be far from an unmixed evil. I think a house for the next two years controlled by the Republicans would do more to insure a sweeping Democratic victory in 1940 than anything I can imagine."

Interest in the senate battles this fall is mostly personal. Nothing could shake the grip of the Democrats on the senate except a crop of upper house funerals far in excess of any reasonable probability. There are some individual Democratic senators coming up who could be defeated without causing any considerable amount of grief in the White House.

On the other hand the most embarrassing senatorial situation is not an election, but a primary. It would be quite a blow to Roosevelt's prestige if Senator Alben Barkley, of Kentucky, should be defeated by Governor A. B. Chandler. More than would the defeat, for instance, of Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, by a Republican.

Watching Trends

America's War College.

—By PRESTON GROVER

This is the first of two articles on that haven of military scholars, the War College.

* * *

WASHINGTON—While there is eager talk of peace, a dozen phases of the next war are being fought out already in secluded Washington class rooms.

Selected army officers, among them many headed for generalships at an early date, drill their agile minds on war business for eight to ten hours a day—then break up perhaps for a baseball game or a round of winter golf.

The officers are scholars at the Army War college.

When Admiral Leahy, chief of naval operations, told the house naval affairs committee that the government was not drafting war plans against any nation he was hewing a close line. As a matter of fact, both navy and army have colleges whose principal business is to study how to conduct war. Moreover, these colleges work out specific war plans—how to meet an attack from any direction from one country or combination of countries.

It is doubtful whether they prepare plans for combat with particular countries or groups of countries. We ran into conflicting private information on that. But it is certain the Army War college course, at any rate, trains its men on "abstract" problems of such a nature that they would apply closely to actual international combat.

THE CURRICULUM.

IN an article in a recent edition of the Military Engineer, an Army War college graduate indicates that the course is broad enough to include almost everything bearing on war. He outlined the course as including: international relations; probable causes of war that may involve the United States; essential peacetime preparations for war; preparation of specific war plans; conduct of war.

Mostly the assignments to the War college are from the ranks of major, lieutenant colonel and colonel. That puts the students between 40 and 50 years of age.

It is the top ranking school in the army. Any officer who hopes to be a general needs to wangle himself an assignment to it. The normal course for an officer is to go first to a school of his own branch of the service, such as the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kas. In the next step, the staff and command school at Fort Leavenworth, latest tactics in battle practice are studied.

AN HONORARY ALUMNUS.

AT the War college, which comes next, the problems are vastly broader. They cover such questions of the strategic operations of a whole army or several armies. For instance, a problem like this might be posed: An enemy has broken through the Pacific fleet and appeared off the southwest coast. Prepare the defense.

While it's true that no officer now may be elevated to membership on the War department general staff without such a course, the country's outstanding soldier, Gen. John J. Pershing, made it without such experience. He was appointed to the first war college class in 1904 but was recalled to act as observer in the Russo-Japanese war.

In 1924, after the World war, he was given a diploma. He slyly observed that the college evidently considered that some of his activities in the meantime had merited the award.

Let's Look Around

The Sunshine City, Where Life Begins at 50.

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Whatever ideas Walter B. Pitkin may have had about "life beginning at 40" must be revised to meet the St. Petersburg situation—for here life begins at 50, gets nicely under way at 60, takes on added zest at 70 and is still rolling along placidly and contentedly at 80 and 90.

Here is a city in which people get up early in the morning so as to have a longer time in which to do nothing—except visit with new-made friends or indulge in the mild recreation afforded at some one of the many playspots within easy walking distance of anywhere in town.

St. Petersburg is a city that might well be taken to represent the American ideal of working hard during productive years and accumulating a surplus to be used later on in life to provide comfortable living in a congenial climate, free from worries and annoyances.

This west coast city of St. Petersburg, with approximately 50,000 resident population, is built almost entirely around its tourist business and just now is jubilant over the fact that registration of visitors at the chamber of commerce offices has passed the all-time high of 63,000—indicating that more than a quarter-million tourists will have made a long or short stay in the city this season.

St. Petersburg has long been popular with Mansfield tourists, dating back to a quarter of a century ago when the late Frank R. Fast and John L. Barr were accustomed to make their annual visits here.

Now an inch-thick pile of registration cards indicates the large number of Mansfield visitors this season and more copies of The News-Journal follow Mansfielders into St. Petersburg on their vacation trips than to any other one resort city in Florida.

SEVERAL things distinguish St. Petersburg in the minds of all who have visited here. Everybody knows, for instance, of the green benches which are seen on all the business streets, placed crosswise on the wide sidewalks and providing total seating capacity for approximately 21,000 persons.

All day long, and through the evening, hundreds of these benches are filled with visitors and townsfolk, reading, knitting or engaged in conversation — all apparently happy and carefree.

The way in which the "green bench" idea started is interesting. Back in the early days of St. Petersburg a unique character, Noel A. Mitchell, who later was elected mayor, was in the real estate business here. He became tired of people using his office as a loafing place and had the happy thought of putting several benches out in front. These benches proved immediately popular and were in such constant use that the idea soon spread.

There were all sizes, shapes and colors of benches at first but council finally specified a standard of size and adopted green as a uniform color, with advertising limited to the name of the firm or organization that furnishes the benches in front of its building.

The only discordant note comes from an occasional "green bench romance" that soon afterward lands in the divorce court—for some of the widows and widowers among the oldsters who meet on the green benches appear to mistake loneliness for love.

A BOAST of St. Petersburg is that while its numerous churches are filled for all services, all efforts to successfully operate a night club have failed and that such ventures have "folded up" one after another.

Popular forms of recreation are shuffleboard, roque and lawn bowling, with some golf and tennis. There are about 125 shuffleboard courts, with club membership around 5,000. Roque, a word made by leaving the first and last letters off of "croquet," might be termer scientific croquet, with some of the elements of billiards. It is played on a court 30 by 60 feet in size and arches have only one-eighth clearance for the balls.

BOOSTING its slogan, "The Sunshine City," the St. Petersburg Independent makes no charge for its paper on any day the sun doesn't shine on the city by 3 p. m. This is an idea of Major Lew B. Brown, the publisher, who came here from Danville, Ky. In more than 27 years the average has been under five free papers a year.

A million-dollar recreation pier, extending a half mile out into Tampa bay, is another of the things on which St. Petersburg prides itself. Here the pastime of visitors is to feed bread to the hundreds of sea gulls that fly around—many of them so tame that they will take a piece of bread from a person's hand, or catch it as it is thrown into the air.

Gandy's bridge, between St. Petersburg and Tampa, represents another idea of an individual—George S. Gandy, who promoted this enterprise and carried it to completion 14 years ago. This bridge, with its approaches, extends about nine miles, nearly five miles of which is over water. It is the most convenient connection between the two cities, although having a higher toll charge than Davis causeway, several miles to the north.

Present agitation is to build a new highway with a free bridge, belief being that the toll charges discourage tourist traffic. This is in accord with ideas in several other of the southern states burdened by toll bridges.

* * *

GETTING into St. Petersburg from Tallahassee there is opportunity for a stop at Tarpon Springs, an attractive small city that is the center of the largest sponge trade in the world, and where may also be seen the religious paintings by the famous artist, George Inness, jr., in the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Farther down the coast is Dunedin, where Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Townsend and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dann, jr., spend their winters.

Clearwater, and Clearwater Beach, just a few miles north of St. Petersburg, is also popular with Mansfielders, it being here that we find Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Witter as permanent residents, with their son, Robert D. Witter, substantially established in the real estate business, while his wife, the former Kathrine Balliett, one of Mansfield's popular singers, is proving equally popular in this charming Florida city. Here also for the winter months are Mrs. R. C. Wise and son, Ralph—and by now Dr. Wise will be back in Mansfield, greatly rejuvenated after a six-weeks stay here. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Goemann are here for the winter, with Mr. Goemann's health much improved. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Voegele, Mrs. G. W. Bahl, jr., and daughter, Mary Anne, are also in the Clearwater vicinity.

Recent Mansfield visitors were Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Courtney, en route home from a motor trip; R. W. Hartman, daughter, Kathryn, and Mrs. Fred Kelly, bound toward Miami, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spreng, moving toward the east coast after having been to Mexico City.

ALL of US

—By MARSHALL MASLIN

Story for a Small Boy.

Son, did I ever tell you about that time a little devil suddenly appeared before me and yelled, "What do you want most of all? You can have anything you want if you can decide in ten seconds. I'll grant any wish you express if you can think of it before I'm through counting."

I'd been perfectly content, all by myself, when that little devil appeared, shouted at me, and told me I could have anything I wanted.

He started counting: "One—two—three—"

And I thought, "How nice it would be to be very rich. With a million dollars I could do anything, go anywhere. If I didn't feel like working, I wouldn't need to. . . . But then it occurred to me that the few rich men and women I know don't seem particularly happy. Perhaps something else might be better than wealth.

The little devil continued to count: "Four—five—six—"

Perhaps I should wish for happiness — to be happy all the time, whatever happened. I have sometimes met men and women who had nothing but were serene. It would be good to be like them. But if you're happy all the time, there's no variety in life. Ups and downs give spice to life. . . . Happiness isn't everything.

And still my small devil counted: Seven—eight—nine—"

Suppose I wish for wisdom? Suppose I asked to be allowed to know everything, to be so wise that no secret of the universe were withheld from me? How about asking for that? . . . But half the fun of living is its uncertainty. No, infallible wisdom would not be a perfect gift for me.

Well, the little devil reached nine and stopped and gave me a mocking look and hesitated on the verge of ten and said, "Well?" And I lost my uncertain temper and yelled at him, "Oh, go away and let me alone!"

So he shouted "Ten!" and disappeared in a flash of green flame—and I had had my wish. I'd asked him to leave me alone and he'd done it. . . . Without knowing it, I had told him I didn't want life on a silver platter—I didn't want great wealth, perfect happiness, infallible wisdom. All I wanted was to be a human being. . . . So I was back where I'd been just ten seconds before—and I didn't mind at all.

CHAMBERLAIN IN MIDST OF NEW CABINET CRISIS

Four Ministers Reported to Be Demanding Adoption of Foreign Policy Change.

there is no quarter in Europe where it is more vital that undertakings should be scrupulously respected."

Urgent French Appeals.

There was no other indication, however, of a definite British policy toward the Czechoslovakian question, despite urgent French appeals for a united French-British front.

Chamberlain in a house of commons debate said the question of Czechoslovakia was receiving "most careful consideration."

The prime minister's decision to continue his policy of non-intervention in Spain won the support of commons by a vote of 317 to 141.

(The French cabinet accepted assurances from Britain of naval help should Italian and German armed forces in Spain menace French colonial communications, and dropped proposals to open its Spanish frontier to arms and men to aid the hard-pressed Spanish government.)

The approval of Chamberlain's "keep out of Spain" policy by commons, and French assent, removed the possibility of any immediate direct Franco-British action to halt Fascist-Nazi assistance to the Spanish insurgents.

Making a plea for this policy, Chamberlain told commons not to "burn our fingers" on Spain but to continue non-intervention to "best serve peace, best serve the cause of freedom."

An opposition storm was led off by the Laborite, Clement Attlee, who asserted, "the cause of the Spanish republic is the cause of this country—to betray the Spanish republic is to betray France; to betray France is to betray Britain."

"What will be the worth of Gibraltar if the shores of North Africa and Spain are held by a hostile power?" he asked.

Wait New Hitler Speech Tomorrow.

BERLIN —(AP)— Reichsfuehrer Hitler, curtailing his triumphant tour of Nazified Austria because of increasing gravity of affairs elsewhere in Europe, may give to the world tomorrow an important announcement on Spain and her long and bitter civil war.

The Fuehrer summoned the Reichstag to meet Friday to hear "a declaration," and the marked emphasis placed on Spanish events by government spokesmen indicated that Spain might be an important subject of that declaration.

No one, as usual, professed to know exactly what Hitler, Europe's man of surprises, had in mind.

But, officials said, there was not in prospect any critical development in the Lithuanian-Polish crisis, at Germany's back door, or elsewhere.

"The story is in Spain, not in northern Europe," the foreign office spokesman said.

"Even Vienna has practically ceased to interest statesmen. The Austrian anschluss (union with Germany) is a closed chapter."

(French secret service agents have reported large numbers of both German and Italian troops with the Spanish insurgent army, in numbers far greater than needed if they intended only to carry on the Spanish war.)

Fuehrer Hitler returned to Berlin yesterday from his triumphant visit to Nazified Vienne, met by an honor guard of infantry and cheered by Berlin crowds enjoying a specially proclaimed holiday.

Speaking briefly from the chancellery balcony, at the insistence of the throng, he said: "You can readily imagine how happy I feel to see all Germandom solidly behind me."

'Certain Clericals' In Austria Face Jail.

VIENNA—(AP)—Henrich Himmler, chief of all Germany's police, today ordered the arrest of all persons belonging to "certain clerical quarters," who he said were spreading "false rumors about new national socialist Austria."

The order mentions no names, but it warned an immediate clean-up was in store for these "clericals." Their object, he said, was "not only to sow unrest within, but also to disturb the reich's good foreign relations."

He blamed the "clericals" for starting a rumor Italian Premier Mussolini had given back to Germany the south Tyrol, formerly a part of Austria.

Communists in Nazi uniforms officially were charged with illegal house searching and seizures of property and persons.

The public also was warned against a wave of "money collecting," ostensibly for party purposes.

A notice that all Free Mason lodges were watched and that no one was permitted to enter completed the day's warnings. The lodges, the notice said, later will be cleaned out and closed for good.

Joseph Buerckel, former commissioner of the German Saar, started his plebiscite campaign today with an appeal for a unanimous "yes" vote on April 10 to approve the Austro-German union.

Jewish stores were placarded. Trucks drove up to them and carted away clothes, perfume, shoes and other goods.

BOARD SETS UP SCHOOL PLAN IN HOLMES COUNTY

Report to State Director Asks That Eight Rural Schools Be Closed This Year.

MILLERSBURG—Holmes county board of education has submitted preliminary survey to E. M. Dietrich, director of education, regarding the proposed school districts, number of teachers and other education employes and transportation routes for the school year 1938-39 as required by law.

The board recommends the closing of five one-room school buildings in the Ripley rural school district and pupils transported to the central high school at Big Prairie where a $50,000 building program is expected to be completed by the opening of the next term of school. Schools which would be closed by this action would be Bigelow, Chambers, Dyes, Lynns and Sprengs.

The board recommends that Webster Hall and Gray Ridge schools, one-room rural, be closed and pupils transported to Clark Consolidated, Killbuck or Millersburg, as interested patrons desire. School buses from these three towns are now passing through these districts.

In Monroe township rural school district, it is recommended that the school be closed and pupils transported to Nashville school, since the average daily attendance at the Finney school in this district will undoubtedly fall below the minimum of 13.

The three schools of Washington rural school district, which are Drakes Valley, Germany and Shipps, will remain as they are until such time that the building programs at Loudonville and Nashville will be able to absorb these schools.

The proposed school set-up for the year 1938-1939 is for 122 teachers; nine high schools; one two-room school; 46 one-room schools; 70 bus routes; and 47 bus drivers. The report was released from the office of County Supt. J. J. Deetz.

A Farmer's Diary

March 16.

THIS evening during the fine warm spring showers I traveled southward toward the two conservancy dams and then westward. At one time the sun shone clear and I stopped to see the rainbow in the east. It stretched high across the sky as always happens when the sun is low. The air was warm and rain fell suddenly without warning. The birds by fence and shrub and tall treetop sounded their evening calls.

I followed a fine macadam road which wound along beside ledges of sandstone rock, half hidden by trees. Some parts were covered by giant lichens and soft green velvet moss.

I saw a farmer carrying, rather nimbly, two milk pails toward the basement of his house. The cat followed at his heels. I called him and asked directions. He set his pails down where he stood, got the evening paper from off the lawn, and came nearer.

"How long have you lived here?" I ventured.

"More than 20 years," and his kindly face twinkled into a smile.

"Do you do your own work?"

"Well—I'm going on 71. I don't do quite what I used to, but my son lives on down the valley there on a large farm. He plows with the tractor and my grandson—he's 17—drives the team to the harrow—and I ride the planter and the drill. We all work together."

"Would you sell your farm?"

"Why yes—I'd move out tomorrow," he avowed, with that twinkle in his eye. The cat put one paw on the edge of the milk pail and he paused to scare it away. Then he spoke more earnestly. "No—I guess when I leave here . . . my friends will carry me out." —By C. A. B.

DELAYS ACTION ON FIRE PLAN

LUCAS—No action was taken by the Monroe township board of trustees in their meeting here Tuesday night on suggestions made by Mayor L. M. Smith concerning the problem of providing fire protection for rural homes in the Lucas community.

Among Mayor Smith's proposals was one that the township trustees undertake to establish a fund to pay for the expense of using the Lucas village fire-fighting equipment at farm homes in case of fire.

Hampered by a lack of township funds, and confronted with the largest relief load in history, the Monroe trustees declined to take any action on the suggestions, although they indicated that the problem would be given their study.

safest in the city. It had not been attacked before. It was hardest hit in the 2 p. m. bombing as the cafes filled with the lunch hour crowd.

The United States consulate staff visited the United Press office and examined the wreckage. The office was wide open with the wall on the street side down.

Bomb struck near the General Motors plant, but the building was not damaged.

As the raid subsided ambulances continued to scream through the streets. The people who were not engaged in rescue work tried to resume normal business. Restaurants that escaped serious damage resumed serving luncheon.

The hospitals in the city already were filled with victims of the bombings earlier in the day and last night. The Red Cross and police requisitioned automobiles all over the city to carry the latest wounded to nursing homes in the suburbs.

French Cabinet Votes Huge Fund for Arms.

PARIS—(AP)—The French cabinet authorized extraordinary armaments expenditures of 4,465,000,000 francs (about $134,000,000) today and announced it would ask the chamber of deputies immediately to open exceptional national defense credits in view of Europe's war threats.

The ministers said an order to speed up raising of rearmanent funds was authorized at today's meeting and that the money would be drawn from the regular 1938 budget without waiting to float a loan.

Charles Spinasse, minister of the budget, said he would submit a bill to the chamber carrying out the proposals of the previous Chautemps ministray—the expenditure of about $360,000,000 over a five-year period, mostly for fighting ships and airplanes.

Armaments expenditures contemplated under the 1938 budget up to now total about $778,362,000.

P.T.A. AT GALION ACTS TO OBTAIN BETTER MOVIES

Holds City's Theaters Don't Show Suitable Films For School Children.

GALION—The Galion City P. T. A. council at its monthly meeting Wednesday evening decided to consult with local theater managers in regard to bringing better pictures here for Saturday's programs.

The council states that on Saturdays when school children are free to attend theaters, that the shows are not suitable for the children to see. A committee composed of J. E. Garverick, Richard Horn and Mrs. Albert Dunn, was appointed to meet with the theater managers.

It was also decided that the presidents of each P. T. A. unit of the city should explain the necessity of the sales tax for school funds, and that without this tax it will be necessary to raise funds for schools from some other tax source.

The council appropriated $25 for the purchase of vestments for the Mother Singers' group. This group will appear on a Sunday Afternoon concert in the near future.

Reports from the various units included an announcement of a Men's meeting at the East building on March 25 when Rev. O. E. Knepp, pastor of the United Brethren church, will be the speaker. Concrete pavements, built to the standards developed by highway engineers of this state, are the last word in safety. Yet they actually cost the public less than so-called "cheap" pavements.

Concrete is safe because it provides a better "track" for vehicles. From your own experience you know that its even, gritty surface reduces skidding, wet weather or dry. Its freedom from bumps, ruts and chuckholes gives you better control at the wheel. Concrete's light gray color and high reflection factor helps you see better at night.

Yet, with all these advantages, concrete is actually the cheapest road to have. First, because it costs less to build than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. Second, because concrete costs less to maintain —saves hundreds of dollars per mile, every year, compared with less enduring surfaces.

Urge public officials to build your roads with safe and saving concrete.

ACHING JOINTS SOOTHED FOR MRS. ELSIE PROPST

Enthusiastically Praises World's Tonic As Great

Constipation Led To Many Other Ills

A woman doing hard nerve-wracking work says her work is a real joy in comparison without stabbing pains shooting through her person at every turn. She is Mrs. Elsie Propst, of 738 Brittain Rd., Akron, Ohio.

"At times my muscles and joints were so painful I had to lay off from work. This was calamity for me with children to support. Constipation had my stomach weak and upset and eating always left gassy, sour tastes and acid risings in my mouth. There'd be dizziness too and spots floated before my eyes but worst of all, were those stabbing pains and aching joints. At one time my doctor said I had lumbago symptoms.

"I bagan taking World's Tonic recently and constipation was first to improve, and so quickly. Thus day by day I had less cause to complain and gradually the aches in my joints were soothed and it is no longer torture to stoop or bend over. I miss that ugly taste of decaying food in my mouth as well as the gas and bloating which I understood could cause palpitation and short breath. Although my work always tired me, now it feels like a healthy tired feeling because I can sleep long and sound. I think World's Tonic is great and honestly believe all women in my place should know about it."

World's Tonic is justly famous and contains no habit forming drugs or narcotics. It is intended to assist nature and you need not buy extra pills or tablets for results.

"WOODROW WILSON: DISCIPLE OF REVOLUTION," by Jennings C. Wise (Paisley; $3.75)

The chief thing one gets from Jennings C. Wise's "Woodrow Wilson: Disciple of Revolution," will be for many readers a feeling that it is still too early to draw a sure portrait of the war president—if indeed the time when that can be done ever comes.

The author has made a serious attempt to override the remains of war-time propaganda, and to take out of his picture all the fictitious detail which clutters the background of every political figure.

Those who greatly admire Wilson will feel that he has not merely removed these, but has substituted for them some ideas, even prejudices, of his own. Those who feel that Wilson was not quite the figure he seemed may even feel the author has not gone far enough with his debunking.

Probably those who like political biography will be fascinated, whatever they feel.

Mr. Wise makes Wilson a Southerner who denied his origins. He sees him as an internationalist to whom the war was only a circumstance in the path toward a League of Nations. To Wise the war president was an almost schizophrenic personality, in which the lower very often dominated the better.

He sees Wilson as a perfectly cold, wholly selfish man whose disloyalties were more conspicuous than his loyalties—even to his supporters such as Page, House and Tumulty. He was not at heart a Democrat, Wise believes, but became one through ambition. Colonel House comes out rather badly, too, and Wilson's historical writings are put under the ban.

And so it goes. It is perhaps necessary to add something to Wise's picture. This is that his book is not the result of facts gathered and valued at the distance of two decades. On his last page he writes that 20 years ago his opinion of Wilson was much what it is now and refers the reader to his "Empire of Armament" for proof.

Mr. Wise has written 647 pages, a great many of which contain material for controversy.—By J. S.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Just two years ago, Chessie made her bow to the world, in the book that bears her name. Every little boy and girl in the country, who had met her, fell in love with her.

Chessie, as most children know, is the famous Chesapeake & Ohio kitten, who lies snugly in bed, with one eye cocked, and one paw on the pillow beside her. Ruth Carroll has written a sequel, called "Chessie and her Kittens." Nip and Tuck were naughty, and finally, Billy's mother decided they must be given away.

Chessie, being a good mother cat, trailed them. She and Billy had a very exciting ride on a train, and Chessie, by her courage and devotion, was given permission to keep dearly loved kittens.

HEARS ACTION

ASHLAND—Judge Clarence U. Ahl of the Crawford county common pleas court presided in the Ashland common pleas court today in the case of the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy district against Emma J. and Earl Shenberger. The defendants in the original action are appealing from an appropriation of the plaintiff for lands to be used for conservancy purposes.

ALLOTS O. S. R. PROJECT $2,900

Measure Allows Funds for Changes In Electric Current.

The re-appropriation of $2,937 in unexpended balances to the state welfare department for electric current changes at the Mansfield reformatory was included in four measures appropriating $340,000 to the state emergency board and signed by Gov. Martin L. Davey.

The money is the balance of an original appropriation set up two years ago for the changing of the light current at the reformatory from direct to alternating current, officials at the institution said.

The work which has been under way for the past two years, includes the revamping of the entire lighting and power system from direct to alternating current and includes the installation of several new motors.

Man, 50, Faces Fine of $500 or Six Months of Work.

ROCKVILLE, Md.—(AP)—A plea of guilty to theft of 22 cents has resulted in a fine of $525 for Charles Edwards, 50.

Police Court Judge Harold C. Smith gave Edwards the alternative of working six months on county roads.

A grocery clerk accused Edwards of having substituted a nickel for a quarter in payment of a small purchase. Justice department records introduced in court showed Edwards had been involved in similar cases. He said his home was in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PAID $299,000 IN PAST YEAR

1,300 Aged In County Received Old Age Pensions, State Report Reveals.

Approximately 1,300 aged Richland county residents were paid $298,964 in old age pensions in 1937, the state division of aid for the aged reported today

Payments in the entire state last year amounted to $28,568,921, which included $555,640 in funeral awards. Average monthly payments to pensioners in the state was $22.60 as compared with $19.37 in 1936. The Richland county average was slightly more than $19 per person last year.

The number of recipients jumped to 103,286 from 99,737 in 1936 and 85,669 in 1935, the report showed. New applications, however, declined sharply from 51,895 in 1936 to 29,835 last year.

Revenue of the division of aid for the aged during the year totaled $28,912,216, with the state contributing $13,654,467 and the federal government, $15,257,748.

It's all well enough to begin at the bottom of the ladder, but it is mighty poor policy to get into the habit of doing it.

The Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

By DR. WILLARD L. SPERRY

Thursday, March 17. "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." Read Matthew 7:21-27.

Coleridge, in an early passage in his Aids to Reflection, says that truths of the greatest importance have a way of lying bedridden in the dormitory of the soul, among despised and exploded errors. A truth, thus bedridden, is what we call a platitude. For a platitude is not a lie; it is a truth which, for the moment, has lost the power of truthfulness.

He then goes on to tell us how truths get into this state and what can be done to restore their first vigor. A truth about which one does nothing loses its power. And in order to revive it we need only to act upon it.

The whole body of Christian faith is in constant danger of sinking to the level of a platitude. All serious thought, it has been said, is merely conduct in suspense. If you find that some one of the many articles of your creed is losing its truthfulness for you, it is well to consider what its consequences in conduct ought to be, and to act accordingly. To do the will is to confirm one's faith in the doctrine.

Prayer: Help us, O Lord, to show forth our Christian faith not only with our lips, but in our lives, and with ready zeal to perform that which we have so boldly professed. Amen.

LOST LADY

By GEORGE E. HOLT
(Copyright 1938)

CHAPTER XX

"I have plenty of objections," replied Dolores, seeing that Red Vasquez was in earnest. "Why should I marry you? I think you have been smoking marihuana.

"The question, senorita," Vasquez said, gently, "is not why you should marry me, but why I should marry you. And as my reasons seem excellent to me, I see no reason why they should be discussed. In short, I am telling you what you will do."

For a space the girl stared at him, trying to see beyond that florid face with its slight grin.

"But this is so sudden, Vasquez," she said at last, with bitter irony. "What deviltry are you up to now? But never mind. I'm not to be played with like that."

"Oh, no?" said Vasquez. He took, slowly, two papers from his pocket. Handed them to her.

"One of these, as you will see, senorita, is a marriage license, issued to Francisco Vasquez and Dolores Sepulveda. The other . . . well, the other is a complaint, duly sworn to, charging you with the theft of Mrs. Frank Anderson's jewels. You may take your choice."

The girl threw the papers upon the table, rose and paced back and forth angrily.

"All right, Vasquez," she said at last. "You've got me. But—tell me. Why all this? What's the answer? As long as you have got me, why not tell me what's it all about? Why marry me?"

For a minute Vasquez smoked in silence, eyes on the girl. Then he laughed.

"You are quite right, senorita," he said. "I have you, so why not tell you why? Well, this is why. An American named Thomas Castle is dead, leaving a half interest in an exceedingly rich gold mine to his daughter, Sue Castle. In order to get control of Sue Castle's interest in this mine, I am marrying Sue Castle. Otherwise the Senorita Dolores. Is that clear to you?"

"You—I—you think I am Sue Castle?" demanded the girl.

"I do not think; I know," replied Vasquez complacently. "You are very stupid—at times. You have known for a long time that Pepito, of the Cafe Mexico City, was one of my spies. Did you think he would not know about the letters you wrote to Thomas Castle—your father—as a "friend" of a possible Sue Castle? That he has not investigated all your possessions? That he has not found pictures of your people, old letters? Proof, in short, of your identity. So—" He shrugged expressively.

Dolores threw herself into a chair, lighted a cigaret nervously. That she was shaken by Vasquez's words was plain. And that she was thinking deeply was also plain. And at last she snapped her cigaret away, rose and said:

"Okay, Vasquez. You win. Otherwise it'd be Santa Maria for me, eh? Let's go."

"I have always thought you had a good deal of wisdom," Vasquez complimented her as he also rose. "I think you will make a very satisfactory Senora Vasquez. A wealthy one, anyhow."

Five minutes later they stood before the judge in the municipal building and were pronounced man and wife in the presence, as witnesses and identifiers, of Gregorio and Juan.

Married under the name of Dolores Sepulveda instead of Sue Castle, these witnesses could always identify the girl whom Vasquez had made his wife.

"And now," said Vasquez, "it seems proper that we should have a small wedding feast. We will go to the Cafe Mexico City and get your friend Carmen and see what kind of a luncheon they can give us."

But inquiry revealed that Carmen was still absent.

It was not until the coffee and liquers had been reached that Vasquez leaned forward toward his new wife, and said, lowering his voice:

"Isn't it fortunate that I do not have to go to the United States and make search there for the executors of Thomas Castle's will?"

"I don't get you," said Dolores.

"Didn't you know that Murray Kilbourne is my prisoner? That's why I seized him at Rancho La Luz, instead of shooting him, as I greatly desired to do. Now it will be most easy to deal with him—to secure your interests, cara mia."

The girl smiled a Vasquez.

"You are a very bright boy, aren't you, Vasquez?"

She arose and excused herself.

"Back soon," she said.

* * *

A quarter of an hour later Vasquez went to look for her.

But the Senora Vasquez was not to be found.

And while the wedding party had been taking place, other events had occurred. Jose Verdugo, passing along the main street, had suddenly encountered Charlie Kilbourne. Silently they fell into step. Charlie Kilbourne led the way to a small cafe, where, at a secluded table they found seats and service.

"Anything doing?" asked Charlie.

Jose shook his head.

"Notheeng about Don Murray," he replied. "But we weel find out about heem, don't you fool myself. But I theenk I know sometheeng else, Don Carlos."

"And that is?" said Charlie.

"I theenk I know now wheech girl is Mees Castle and wheech one ees not."

"Tell me about it?" requested Charlie.

Jose told him of his talk with the two girls. Of Carmen's passionate declaration that she was NOT Sue Castle. Of his reasons for believing that she was.

As he reached the end of his story and awaited Charlie Kilbourne's comments, they were interrupted in their tete-a-tete.

Dolores—the Senora Vasquez—came to the doorway of the cafe, peered in, smiled and came to them.

"You are Jose Verdugo," she said, as both men arose. "And you—" she laughed, "you look a good lead like Don Murray Kilbourne's father ought to look."

"Good guess, lady," said Charlie Kilbourne. "Will you be seated?"

The girl shook her head.

"Thanks," she said, "but I was looking for Jose to tell him that I think he will find Don Murray at the old Francisco Guerra ranchhouse. You know where that is, Jose?"

Jose nodded.

And the Senora Vasquez said "Adios, senores," and sped away.

In ten minutes Charlie Kilbourne and Jose were in the former's car, heading for the Guerra ranch.

Murray Kilbourne had spent a most uncomfortable night. All attempts to loosen his bonds had been vain, wherefore, with such stoicism as he had been able to summon to his aid, he had made the best of them, and at least had been able to get some fitful sleep.

Shortly after dawn he was awakened by the opening of the door which gave entrance to his room, and saw that a Mexican had arrived with breakfast. At least there was coffee, and cold tortillas and a glass of wine.

The Mexican seemed to be an amiable sort of person. His brown face screwed up into a sociable grin when he looked at Murray, and, setting the breakfast down on the floor, he approached the American.

"Good morning, senor," he said, in Spanish. "I don't see how you are going to eat as long as you are tied up like a calf to be branded. Nor do I think it was intended that I should feed you. Wherefore I am going to take the ropes off of your wrists while you have breakfast."

"You are a most amiable person," Murray told him, matching his grin. "And I shall remember you in my prayers."

"Oh, as to that," replied the Mexican, laughing, "I fear they will not be powerful enough to do me much good. And I am quite sure that the mayor of La Paz, whom I was forced to shoot, has already made a pretty black case against me. However, quien sabe."

As he talked he undid the ropes from Murray's wrists with slim, brown, dexterous fingers—fingers, Murray thought, more like those of an artist or musician than a bandit and killer. That was the peculiar thing about the Mexicans; they could be so amiable, so gentle, so almost ladylike, and then, at a moment's notice, become as ferocious and deadly as a panther.

"But you will observe, if you please, senor," continued the Mexican, "that there are two guards at the doorway, armed with very good rifles."

"I had already observed that, senor," replied Murray, and began his breakfast.

"I will leave you, then," said the Mexican. "And if you behave as you should, perhaps I will not have to tie your wrists again."

Renew Study of Federal Financial Aid for Railroads

EXPERTS MEET FOR 2ND DAY OF DISCUSSION

Roosevelt Seeks Background For Special Message to Congress on Problem.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — White House study of the knotty railroad problem was resumed today as President Roosevelt called interested public and private experts back for a second day of conference.

Senate and house railroad committee chairman selected government officials and representatives of management, finance and labor looked forward today to hearing from Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and RFC Chairman Jesse Jones on the possibilities of federal financial assistance for the carriers under the present set-up.

Neither Morgenthau nor Jones was reached in the round-table discussion of Tuesday at which the president opened his attack on the transportation problem.

Planning Message.

Mr. Roosevelt hopes to get from these "diagonitic" conferences the final background which will enable him to address a special message to congress.

Whether legislation at this session will be recommended, or a long-range study of the roads' fundamental financial and organizational ailments, was still uncertain. It was possible the president might ask for some easily-passed legislation as soon as possible and appointment of a committee to draft an all-embracing program for submission to the 1939 congress.

Chairman Burton K. Wheeler, (D) of Montana, of the senate inter-state commerce committee, and Chairman Clarence F. Lea, (D) of California, of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, both say it would be possible for the present congress to modify the bankruptcy laws to facilitate receivership re-organizations; perhaps set up a special federal court to wring out the roads, or revise current court procedure.

Hinges On Program.

Everything, however, depends on Mr. Roosevelt's recommendations, congressional leaders indicate. Up to now, the president has been reluctant to ask this session to take on any additional new legislation because he hopes for an early adjournment. He told his last press conference nevertheless that White House conferees were in general agreement on two or three phases requiring quick action—although failing to get to the real root of the railroad trouble.

It looked probable to observers that in any event, the experts would be asked to spend the next eight and a half months preparing a long-range railroad bill designed to unwater capital structure and consolidate costly duplications of facilities.

The elder Scott, who never misses seeing the Tygers in action, will be on the sidelines tonight, of course.

Students at Senior high school missed their "adopted" dog today. And it was all because he became too excited during the fire drills and neglected to clean his feet when he entered the building. The pet, a mongrel that came to the school about a month ago, had become a familiar figure around the building. His bad habits spelled his doom yesterday, however, when a call from Principal Jesse Beer brought Dog Warden William Miller to the school after the animal. The charge against him was "making a general nuisance of himself."

BRADLEY CASE HEADS FOR JURY

Judge Orders 'Graft' Witness Bound Over After Hearing on Perjury Charge.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan said today that Gov. Martin L. Davey's perjury action against Lee Bradley, star witness in the state senate's "legal graft" investigation, would go before the current Cuyahoga county grand jury.

Municipal Judge Burt W. Griffin bound the 57-year-old Cleveland salesman to the grand jury late yesterday upon finding "probable cause" to suspect that he testified falsely before the senate's graft-hunting committee.

The prosecutor said his office would take the case to the jury "in the usual course of things" and intimated only unforeseen complications in the preparation of evidence would cause delay. The next grand jury convenes in May.

"Let it take its course," commented the governor.

Bradley withheld comment on the preliminary hearing decision other than to remark he "had only begun talking." He was released under $1,000 bond.

Governor Davey based his charge on Bradley's statement before the committee that he and the executive obtained through a General Motors Corp. representative a $25,000 contribution to the governor's 1934 campaign fund.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN OPEN DRIVE FOR $5,000 SCHOLARSHIP FUND

A campaign was launched today by the Mansfield branch of the American Association of University Women to establish a $5,000 scholarship fund which will be used for worthy Mansfield students.

Plans for the first money making projects were submitted to the membership last night and accepted when the group met at the Women's Club. Mrs. W. L. Miller and Miss Ruth Dunham, heads of the standing committees on fellowship and educational committees, submitted the proposal.

The club will sponsor a motion picture, "Of Human Hearts," at the Madison theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, receiving a percentage on all tickets sold in advance of the show by members and groups co-operating on the ticket sale.

The money for the scholarship fund will be raised over a period of time, with at least one major event sponsored by the club each year, Mrs. Miller said.

When the $5,000 has been raised, interest on the fund will provide an annual scholarship for some high school graduate who would be unable otherwise to attend college.

Tickets for the show next week also will be sold in the public schools, and at the Chamber of Commerce, Tawse's Pharmacy and the Book Shop, West Third street.

SLAYER OF ROSS CALMLY HEARS DEATH VERDICT

'Don't Give a Damn,' Seadlund Says, Declares He Would Have Convicted Himself.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO—John Henry Seadlund, 27, asked his keepers for some new magazines today intending to pass the time pleasantly until he is electrocuted for the kidnaping of Charles S. Ross.

He was sentenced to die last night by a federal court jury. He snickered when Federal Judge John P. Barnes ordered a hearing for Saturday on a motion for a new trial.

"They'll put me in the chair, but I don't give a damn," Seadlund said.

He kidnaped Ross, 72, a well-to-do manufacturer of greeting cards Sept. 25, while Ross and his former secretary, Miss Florence Freihage, were returning to Chicago from a dinner party at Sycamore, Ill. A Kentuckian, James Atwood Gray, was his accomplice.

Got Ransom, Killed.

After collecting $50,000 ransom from Ross' wife, Seadlund killed both Ross and Gray then fled. Bodies of the victims were recovered from a lonely grave near Spooner, Wis., by G-men who trailed Seadlund twice across the country, capturing him Jan. 14 at the Santa Anita race track in California.

He pleaded guilty to kidnaping under the Lindbergh law which provides that a jury must decide penalties.

He had maintained his accustomed impassive attitude when, as the only defense witness, he told his version of the crime.

He shot both Ross and Gray, he said, because he believed they had been fatally injured in a fight and he "wanted to make sure they were dead."

When the case was given to the jury, Seadlund said to a guard:

"If I was on the jury I'd convict myself."

Federal agents revealed that they had recovered approximately $45,000 of the ransom money. About $14,500 was found on Seadlund when he was captured, and $30,000 was uncovered in a hideaway in Minnesota.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

THOSE WHO hate bunk and are sick of the china eggs of politics should read the speech of Col. Frank Knox delivered before the Republican state convention in North Carolina. The bluntness of the colonel's language may have been due to the fact that he is not now a candidate and is unhampered by the restrictions of a weasel-worded platform.

However, it is stimulating to find a man who, before a political convention, divests himself of partisanship and presents the truth without thought of the effect upon the great voting minorities whose oppressive weight in the last four years has so demoralized political morality and sapped candidatorial courage. The interesting thing about the Knox speech, which singled out and squarely dealt with those four great explosive problems of social security, relief, crop control and labor, is that it was not only courageous but intelligent.

THE MORE the facts are considered, the clearer it seems that the Republican party could play no smarter politics for 1940 than by adopting the Knox declarations as the basis for its appeal to the people. If it is to put itself in position either to win on its own merits or to coalesce with the anti-New Deal Democrats, this is the way to do it. The Republicans face today one of those situations where that old political motto—"When in doubt, it's better to do right"—particularly applies. The right thing for them happens to be the expedient thing.

FOR FIVE years the New Deal has been using public funds to coddle great classes of voters. The notion that these can be weaned away by promises is absurd and it is craven and unworthy to rest hope of success upon a deeply disappointed people turning blindly to the Republicans as the only alternative to an administration which has deluded them. There is reason to believe that an increasing number of voters feel deeply on these problems and that they will respond to the party or candidate dealing with them frankly and realistically. At least, they will respect it or him.

IN EFFECT, what Colonel Knox said on these four points is what most men in politics would say if they were not afraid. First, he denounced the social security act as a horrible muddle, not only inoperable, confused and discriminatory, involving an army of jobholders and unfairly distributed burdens, but carrying with it the seeds of disintegration. He urged a complete rewriting of the act, after study; adoption of the simple British administrative method; a reserve of not more than a billion dollars and a pay-as-you-go policy. In the matter of relief, Colonel Knox asserted that relief funds are now used for political purposes to a shocking degree; that as now administered there is huge waste and flagrant fraud; that the present method undermines character and costs twice as much as it should. His proposal is to turn all relief administration over to state and local communities, with the federal government granting funds in proportion to the needs of the states. "You will," he said, "never get the relief problem out of politics until it is removed from federal control and put back where it belongs."

AS TO the farm control act, the colonel voiced a blistering indictment and predicted a humiliating and costly failure. He proposed no new form of subsidy or legislation. On the contrary, he urged his party to take away from industry its monopolistic protection through excessive tariff rates, declaring his belief that if once this were done both the necessity for farm subsidies would be removed and the demand disappear. In brief, he urges a reduced tariff and a simple policy of soil preservation and farm credit without bounties or bonuses or quotas or crop control. The soundness of this proposition is not easy to dispute.

FINALLY, Colonel Knox hammered the Wagner labor act, called for its modification so as to prevent it's being operated in the interests of the CIO, insisted upon the principle of collective bargaining, but demanded that it be linked with real labor-union responsibility. He further asserted that the right to work is as vital as the right to strike and that the worker who does not belong to a union is as much entitled to protection against being exploited by labor leaders as the union workman is against the exploiting type of employer.

IT IS NOT that what the colonel said on these four subjects is so new, but that it is new to have it said by a party man to a party convention. For nearly five years now men in politics have been afraid to speak out on these matters for fear of alienating the subsidized groups. Colonel Knox says—and it is true—that it is idiotic to be mealy-mouthed in the hope that these coddled voters can be weaned away from the Santa Claus side. The sensible thing for the opposition is to stop being afraid of these voters and take its stand for the interests of the country as a whole.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—For some time now this department has been a rather grudging admirer of the little First Lady of Hollywood. The stigma that attaches to all the cinema's precocious kiddies stuck cloyingly upon her pretty presence, obscuring the vision, and making us more or less proof against her wiles.

Capitalized cuteness, exploited precocity, honeyed artificiality—these are things that invariably come to mind when a child star is put through cunningly contrived paces on the screen. They are things that, to the seasoned Hollywoodian—at least to him who isn't sharing in the spoils—considerably lessen any enjoyment available in the celluloid result.

This is merely preamble to our present earnest waving of the flag of truce. After seeing "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" we are ready and eager to join in trumpeting the manifold charms of Shirley Temple, a gesture of surrender which admittedly is entirely unnecessary—to Miss Temple—in view of the young person's top spot at the box-office through these three years.

As "Rebecca," Shirley starts the picture with curls and cuteness unchanged. There is little to indicate that before long she will emerge—partly by virtue of a new coiffure—as a veritable "new Shirley Temple."

But she does, and it's amazing. By the time she sits down at the piano and starts her vocal reminiscing, our defenses were already weakened. Sometime during this sequence, our capitulation became complete. Miss Temple may not be the greatest actress nor the greatest singer, but she has a way of stepping from that screen and putting her personality intimately into the hardest of hearts. And it's a very nice personality. Not forward, certainly not shy, but properly demure and at the same time twinkling, wise and winning.

The years have been kind to Shirley, and the indications are they will continue to be kind. She may be even that rarity among screen children — the one who won't be forced into retirement. Shirley on the screen today is proof certain that success has not spoiled her—even better proof than Mrs. Temple's insistence. (Take a bow, Mrs. T.!)

As for the picture, it isn't "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" as you may remember it but it's plenty bright and pleasant. In the film Rebecca is a talented child who goes to live at Sunnybrook Farm after failing to win a place on the air. And Sunnybrook Farm becomes a broadcasting center, and the handsome agent—Randolph Scott—falls in love with Rebecca's cousin—Gloria Stuart—and all in all Kate Douglas Wiggin, who wrote the book, wouldn't recognize it. But what does that matter, anyway?

—Advice—

Inspired By Strong Character

By VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Miss Lee: For several months I have read your column each day. I like the way you deal out (should I say?) justice.

"You have spoken a number of times how some of us have so much to be thankful for and don't appreciate it. How very true that is. If we could all be like 'Honey' in our thoughts — Honey, the girl who wrote that beautiful letter to 'Weary,' the boy who wanted to kill himself. In my prayers I ask God to bless Honey and make her happy and some day, if it pleases Him, to let her be able to walk without crutches.

"In today's paper you wrote of 'Worried Peg,' a girl who had fallen in love with another's mate. Miss Lee, I am a man over twice as old as Peg, but I fell in love with another's mate, and I was married too. I loved this woman for over three years, yet in all that time I never breathed my love nor did I know that she loved me as I did her.

"I fought this love for her and gave myself wholely to my wife and was ever true to her. After three years of trying to conquer my love my wife was taken from me. You cannot even picture the anguish that was in my heart. And then for a number of weeks, by no fault of either of us, this woman and myself were thrown together. Her husband, who had fallen in love with another woman, wished to get rid of her for a while. I felt very deep pity for this woman and love beyond reason. I tried to steel my heart against that love, but I guess the nearness and dearness of her was too much, for one day found us in each other's arms. Neither of us realized until then how very deep our love was. Neither of us had ever sinned; we did not sin then, but the world would call it sinning for us to love each other. We parted, only seeing each other occasionally. In the weeks and months that went by she was the stronger of the two. She taught me that honor was the highest thing in life. In parting she said: 'We cannot govern our thoughts or our minds, but we can always live in each other's thoughts.'

Still Loves Her.

"I thank God for her strength of character! I still love this woman as dearly as ever. I cannot help that, but there is never any pain or hurt like it used to be. It is now just a beautiful remembrance that I will carry always in my heart. Should I never see her again in this world, still will I be happy in the memory of her purity.

"Miss Lee, if I could only write what is in my heart and pass it on to girls like Peg, I'm sure they would understand and see that honor is the only thing that can possibly make absolute happiness, but I do not know how to express it.

"I have turned to God for help and comfort. When I feel down and out, I go to my room, lock the door and, kneeling down, pour out my sorrows to God. And when I go from my room my troubles seem to be so much lighter. If more people would only try turning to God in their troubles how different life would seem to them! 'No good thing will God withhold from them that walk uprightly; blessed are they who trust in Him.'

"In closing, I wish to thank you for the many helpful and beautiful things you have put in your column that have helped me.

"RUGGED MOUNTAINEER."

I think you have expressed yourself very beautifully, and I have printed your letter because, in your own person, you have proved that the "path of duty is the path of beauty." Thank you for your fine letter.

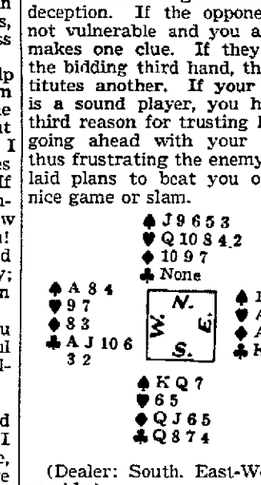
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TRUST YOUR PARTNER

WHEN TOO many cards have been shown by the other players, when each has indicated so much strength that you know somebody is falsifying, pause to consider who had the most logical reason for deception. If the opponents are not vulnerable and you are, that makes one clue. If they opened the bidding third hand, that constitutes another. If your partner is a sound player, you have the third reason for trusting him and going ahead with your bidding, thus frustrating the enemy's deep-laid plans to beat you out of a nice game or slam.

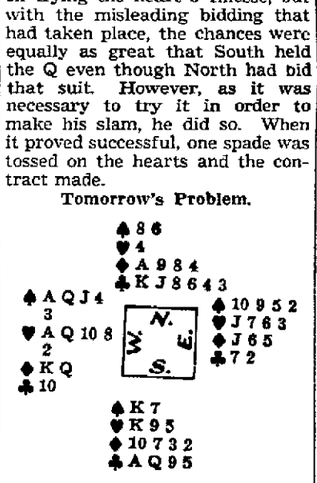


(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

After passes by South and West, North put in a bid of 1-Spade, which East doubled. South at this point injected a bid of 1-No Trump. West called 2-Clubs and North 2-Hearts. East was a little uncertain now as to where the real strength really lay, but decided to try out his partner again by a call of 2-No Trump. When West now jumped to 4-No Trump, East bid 5-Clubs and West took the contract to 6-Clubs.

The Spade 5 was the opening lead, covered by South's Q and won with the A. After drawing four rounds of clubs, West figured on trying the heart J finesse, but with the misleading bidding that had taken place, the chances were equally as great that South held the Q even though North had bid that suit. However, as it was necessary to try it in order to make his slam, he did so. When it proved successful, one spade was tossed on the hearts and the contract made.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the correct bidding on this deal?

Spanking Infant Unwise

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head, Dept. Parent Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

A MOTHER WRITES:

"My Dear Dr. Myers: In your daily articles that appear in our paper, I notice that you frequently mention the need of a little sound smack when children don't seem to respond to the otherwise proper treatment. Does this apply, too, to infants that cry just before going to sleep? Sometimes my husband loses patience with our three-month-old baby, and after trying to put him to sleep for half an hour, he gives him a smack (where you suggested) and the baby goes to sleep, usually. Is this harmful to him, or is it just what he needs?

"Your articles are interesting and instructive. You have so much common sense to be a Ph.D. I would like to have had you for my psychology teacher when I was in college a few years ago."

Answer: I am happy to know that for one reader, at least, I have lived down my Ph. D.

Now to the baby. It is no doubt possible by a smack to quiet an infant of three months. It is the physical shock that does the trick, I guess. But I have never advised it so early. It has always seemed to me entirely needless and unsafe to apply physical pain before the child is old enough to move about so as to approach danger. One exception, perhaps, when the baby with teeth bites the mother while nursing—a rare occurrence. Consistently I have advised parents not even to use the word NO until NO can have a restraining meaning.

Might Injure Child.

I wish I might persuade that father not to smack his tiny infant. Since he does so only in anger he might injure the tiny creature. I wonder what he does when he "tries to put that baby to sleep."

Nothing sensible to do but to let it alone, except to make sure it does not smother in the bedclothes. Until the baby can move about—creep, climb, walk—all his discipline can be limited to self-discipline of the parents. They must learn not to allow the baby to command them by his cries. In case they are entirely successful at self-management, the infant will not cry long except in actual physical discomfort, unless, of course, they had allowed him to expect attention which they decide henceforth to withhold. Then he will have one or more long spells of crying because the accustomed pleasure has been withdrawn. We parents have one main problem in managing the infant under nine or 12 months—never to accustom him to any indulgences he is not always to have; therefore, to plan carefully what attention he shall have and give him no more.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I know my husband's voice so well that I immediately catch any unusual nuance in it, and I was sure that my imagination was not "working overtime," in his own parlance, when I decided that his tones were strained and nervous, although he was making an obvious effort to appear casual, even nonchalant.

"Well, old Dear! How goes the new abode?" he queried.

"Very well, indeed," I returned cordially.

"Did you and Mary sleep well or did you have indigestion after that feed? I was afraid afterward that it was too heavy a meal when you were both so fatigued."

"It was perfect," I assured him, truthfully.

"And we slept like the well-known tops," I added an instant later, reflecting that it was not necessary to tell him about the sedative which was the sole reason for my getting to sleep after the hectic episode of the drunken woman demanding "Dicky Graham" immediately.

Everything Settled.

"That's fine," he said heartily. "You're sure everything's all right and you're comfortably settled?"

"Every last article is hung on its own nail," I assured him, laughing.

"I can well believe that, knowing you," he retorted. "Sure there is nothing I can do for you?"

"Not a thing in the world," I assured him.

"Then I'll bid you a fond adieu," he said. "I'm busier than the famous one-armed watchman with the poison ivy—that's rhetorical—and, by the way, I won't be able to get over tonight. I'm working late at Brown's studio—you know that new novel of his I'm illustrating—and we're mulling it over together. We'll probably have something sent in; we won't have much time for eating. I've stalled the thing along too long now. So, long Darling! I'll try to see you tomorrow!"

"Goodby," I answered, trying not to make the words mechanical, but as I hung up the receiver and turned to Mary, I caught upon her face a curious, speculative look which she quickly masked.

Let Veritzen Pay.

"Well! What's the good word?" she asked with apparent carelessness. "Does Uncle Dicky blow us to a feed, or do we spend Papa Veritzen's mazuma?"

"We eat at your father-in-law's expense," I returned, smiling, "unless you will let me stand treat."

"Noth-ing do-ing!" Mary declaimed. "This is darling Pa-pa's pet idea; let him foot the bills! Not that he'd ever question them," she added justly.

"No, he is most lavish and generous," I said mechanically, and Mary dropped to a footstool at my side, clasping my knees with her arms in a gesture that went back to her lonely childhood.

"Auntie Madge, will you tell me something, and not think I'm asking from idle curiosity?" she queried.

Asks About Woman.

"Of course, Child," I told her, but my mental thermometer dropped to my shoe soles, for I greatly feared I knew what she meant to ask me.

"That was a drunken woman who called up last night for the man the hotel manager call Mr. Glavan, wasn't it?" she asked.

"She sounded as if she were drunk," I answered, feeling as if my speech were wooden.

"Do you think she might have been pretending to be drunk?" she asked next, and bewildered, I tried to recollect the raucous voice I had heard.

"I don't know," I said at last. "She might have been either. But why—?"

Mary interrupted me ruthlessly.

"What kind of a voice did she have?" she asked abruptly. "Squeaky, high-pitched?"

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, March 18.

OPPORTUNITY FOR the attainment of cherished ambitions is read from the major planetary configurations. There is promise of contracting big business or promoting major plans with mergers, secret organizations, fraternal, political or diplomatic circles, all with increased prestige and personal satisfaction. Yet, a very disagreeable situation may arise, dragging an ulterior motive or some undercover machinations to the front.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of splendid opportunity for increasing the business and financial status, with important persons and organizations working in collaboration. Seek aid from rings, political or diplomatic circles or secret societies.

A child born on this day may be efficient, proud and ambitious, but inclined to attain its ends by means of strategy rather than by direct action.

The first day of next week brings Spring . . . let's hope it brings Spring weather. It's fun! So much fun to lounge along in the bright, warm sunshine, amble past the store fronts and look in the windows. Just take our time. Part of the fun of Spring is to forget about the clock—and the budget, too! It's fun to drift into a shop without really meaning to . . . try on a few hats . . . buy one and drift out again; just as much fun to spot a potted plant in a florist's window and find it under one's arm a moment later. Saunter along; pick up a pair of shoes here, some gloves there, a set of hedge-clippers somewhere else. Spend a half-hour hearing the new phonograph records—let 'em wrap up half-a-dozen. Then to the drug store for a soda and on the way home there's the crack of a batted ball in a vaacnt lot and the meadow larks are singing the sun to bed . . . Spring is fun. This Spring, anyway. Next Spring, perhaps—well, next Spring, we may be too old. So, come on, Spring, let's have fun! Let's you and me see what we can do to get things started . . .
